two promotions

GREGG MORRISON

FRED NESLEY

Creation of a new division within Associated Newspapers has prompted an announcement of two staff changes by David J. Willett, owner and publisher.

Frederick H. Nesley, 51, has been promoted from sales account representative to manager of the retail advertising department, replacing Gregg Morrison. In his new position, Nesley will be in charge of all retail advertising functions and personnel.

Morrison, 25, will head Wayne County Graphics where he will be in charge of the graphic arts department and coordinate custom job printing for ANP customers.

Nesley served as sales account representative for the Dearborn Press from 1970-76 and was publisher of his own newspaper, The Garden City Guardian, from 1946-58.

Willett said, "Fred Nesley brings to Associated Newspapers a wealth of knowledge, not just in advertising, but in all facets of the newspaper business. I believe his addition to our management staff will help us in achieving our goal of bringing the best in news and advertising services to our readers."

Nesley, his wife, Wilma, and son reside in Belleville.

Morrison, who is from the Canton Township area, first went to work for ANP in 1973 as a retail advertising salesman and was named retail advertising manager in December of 1975.

Willett explained that Morrison's "technical knowledge of printing operations will enable us at ANP to better cope with proposed expansion plans, both in news area coverage and job printing."

Sponsor bus trip

The Romulus recreation department is sponsoring a trip to northern Michigan July 11-15, via air-conditioned motor-coach.

Cost of the trip is $152. Call 941-0666, ext. 67 for additional information.

Mayor, council pass buck

City budget okay overdue

By Bob AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Charges and counter-charges continue to fly over who is at fault because the Romulus city budget was not adopted by the June 30 deadline specified in the City Charter — council or the mayor?

Beverly McAnally, council member in her second term, charged Mayor James C. Stewart with being responsible for a variety of reasons — turning over budget to council two weeks late, presenting an unbalanced budget to council in several different portions and not giving budget figures for the grants department.

Mayor Stewart admitted turning over the general fund budget on April 15 and the complete city budget three days later, some two weeks past the deadline of 120 days before the end of the fiscal year on June 30 as spelled out in the City Charter.

He charged, "If the council would approve the city budget right now, they would be more than four months late. Last year, they were four months late in approving the budget also."

The mayor contended the budget situation is being "blown out of proportion" by those criticizing him and his administration.

Again hitting council, Stewart declared, "Council sat on the budget for six weeks before calling the first session. Since then, they've ripped it apart and returned it $31,000 out of balance on the wrong side."

Mrs. McAnally maintained that she was not hitting Stewart and his administration just prior to the upcoming city election and trying to make a political football out of the budget dilemma.

"It's not campaign politics, it's just lousy leadership," she said. (She is an acknowledged supporter of former Mayor Terry Trout, who is reportedly seeking reelection.)

She said the mayor is also in violation of the charter which stipulates the city budget must be adopted no later than 45 days before the June 30 deadline.

Also, Mrs. McAnally said of the six to seven meetings which council has held on the budget, the mayor only attended "one or two." Further, she charged, the finance department did not attend any of the sessions.

The councilwoman was taken to task by Helen Gallien, finance department director, who retorted, "We were at all of the budget meetings, but were asked by Council President Jerry Canejo to go home on three of those occasions because a quorum was not present for the meeting." (As an appointee of the mayor, she represented his administration at the budget sessions.)

Also playing a large part in the budget controversy is the water and sewer department. Mrs. McAnally charged the mayor with presenting two different water and sewer department budgets, "both of which were not balanced."

Mrs. Gallien said the water and sewer budget given to council was unbalanced because council has not set a new water rate for customers. In his cover letter on the $8,682,873 complete city budget he turned over to council on April 15, Stewart had indicated it would not be possible to present a balanced budget for the water and sewer department until council made a final decision on the water rate. He told council that information in the water and sewer budget was predicated on the current amount charged — $5.50 per 1,000 cubic feet.

To correct this situation, the mayor had several studies made, the latest being one made by Jones and Henry Engineering of Toledo, Ohio. He said the firm Tuesday night recommended that the city must charge $5.86 per 1,000 cubic feet to maintain operation of the water and sewer department at the present level.

Stewart said, that after spending $12,000 for the rate study and despite confirmation of information previously given to council by the finance department and three other auditing firms, the council still has taken action to set a new water rate.

Without the new rate, a realistic and balanced budget for the water and sewer department could not be given to council, he said.

The mayor noted that the current $5.50 rate expires July 12, at which time it will revert back to the old $2.50 rate, much less than Romulus pays the city of Detroit for the water.

Mrs. Gallien explained that the city must make enough profit from sale of water to local residents to keep the water and sewer department in business — paying of salaries and general operation.

The finance director charged the water and sewer department is "more than a million dollars in debt to the city" for funds it borrowed from the total debt is owed to the city of Detroit.

She strongly criticized council member Joan Lee, who when asked about the debt, reportedly told her, "I don't care if we ever pay you back." She said Mrs. Lee made the statement at a public meeting.

Mrs. Gallien blamed the present financial crisis at the water and sewer department on former Mayor Trout. Declaring that she has worked under several mayors in her seven years as finance director and 18 years as an appointee with the city, she hit Trout hard.

"Trout was behind the petition drive last fall in which he tried to break the water and sewer department so he can get elected," she said.

"I don't see how he can continue to lie, Romulus is one of the most financially sound communities in the state. What he did to us is a crime," she charged.

Mrs. McAnally also was upset because she questioned if the city could continue to function and to meet employee payrolls if a new budget for the next fiscal year was not adopted.

The finance director said, "There is not a problem. We'll just close the books and start with a zero balance. Since the city set the tax rate at 13 mills the other day and tax bills have been sent out, the city will have revenues coming in as usual."

Tests pre-schooler's eyes made. In this picture, vision technician Betty Matson finds out how well four-year-old Keith Newcomb can see.

City's tax rate stays at 13 mills

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus City Council has voted to set the tax rate at 13 mills but is only about a fourth of the way to finalizing a budget. Mayor Pro-Tem Gerry Canejo said that several on the council want to wait for the results of the Water and Sewer Department study before completing the budget.

Two more budget hearings are scheduled. In adopting the 13 mills, which council had to do so tax bills could be sent out this week, members voted 4-2 to use 10 mills for city operation and three mills for payment of water and sewer bonds.

The 4-2 vote showed Bob Martin, Junior Block, William Oakley and Gerry Canejo voting for the millage and Beverly McAnally and Joan Lee voting against it. Jimmie Raspberry was absent.

The 13 mills recommended by Mayor James Stewart and approved by City Council represents no increase in city millage for the past three years, according to tax assessor Dave Krause.

"In fact, because of the tremendous growth experienced in the city last year, the school system was obligated to cut the school debt retirement millage by one full mill," Krause said. The school board officially did that at their April 11 meeting.

"When you couple this growth with the lowest state equalized valuation increase in history of the city (seven-tenths of one percent), the final result is that for the first time in the history of this city, the July 1, or better known as the City Tax Bill, will be three or four dollars less than last year's," Krause pointed out.

Romulus' 13-mill city tax compares favorably with neighboring cities and only four of 33 cities in Wayne County have slightly lower millage rates.

As proposed by the mayor, and still being considered by Council, the 10 mills for city operations would be spent as follows:

- PCHA (People's Community Hospital Authority) 4 mills — $100,000.
- Drainage, .60 mills — $150,000.
- Police, 3.20 mills — $800,000.
- Fire, .55 mills — $137,000.
- Recreation, 1.70 mills — $425,000.
- Rubbish Removal, .35 mills — $87,000.
- General Operating, 3.20 mills — $800,000.

These are all close approximate figures, Krause said. The 10 mills total city operating funds will be approximately $2,600,000. Three mills for Water and Sewer Bond Issue will total approximately $750,000. The 13 mills total July 1, 1977 city levy will be approximately $3,350,000, he said.

Bill Abdon—man for all seasons

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away" is an old saying that works for harness horses, too. Bill Abdon, well known Michigan harness horseman and the owner of South Huron Orchards can testify to that!

Abdon, probably the busiest retired person in New Boston, has owned and bred harness horses successfully for 30 years along with a career as administrator in the Adrian and Melvindale School districts. The fact that he managed to fit the thriving orchard and cider mill at 38035 South Huron Road, New Boston, into his schedule also attests to his business acumen.

Retiring after 39 years with the public schools, Abdon now has a bit more time to spend as a director of the Michigan Harness

Horseman's Association where he has served for 25 years, seven years as president of the association.

Abdon stated the all-time favorite of his many horses, past and present, was "Diamond Volo", an outstanding pacer. He also owned "Harold's Song", a trotter that set several track records. He still owns both pacers and trotters and races them at Wolverine Raceway, Hazel Park Raceway and Northville Downs in the Detroit Metropolitan Area.

His wife, Viola, his daughter, Mary, and her husband, Charles Grover, have shared Abdon's enthusiasm for harness horses as well as assisting with the operation of the orchard and cider mill.

Bad for suburbs financially

Opposes splitting county

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has denounced the move by State Rep. Thomas H. Brown (D-Westland) to create a new county called "Suburbia", to be carved out of Western Wayne County.

Ford spoke before officials from the 15th District, who were in Washington last week to attend his 13th annual municipal officials conference. The congressman said he thought that secession from Wayne County would, "be a disaster" for the Wayne County communities that he represents.

Ford represents 21 communities in Wayne County including Belleville, Canton Township, Huron Township, Inkster, Romulus, Sumpter Township, Van Buren Township, Wayne and Westland.

Ford said his opposition is primarily for economic reasons, adding that he couldn't understand Brown's timing, since outcounty communities probably will have a majority of the population in Wayne County in the 1980 census, ensuring majority representation on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, the governing body for the county.

The secession issue has arisen over the alleged "Detroit bloc" of votes on the board, which local officials claim denies them a controlling interest in decisions that affect their communities. Detroit commissioners on the county board slightly outnumber outcounty commissioners.

One of the most recent examples of discontent has been over the make-up of the county's Public Works Committee which will have jurisdiction over the long-anticipated "super sewer" project, to be built in Western Wayne County. After a recent decision by the Board of Commissioners, only one representative from the area affected by the sewer will be on the committee.

A move to counter this development and form a separate sewer authority presently is underway in most of the communities that would make up the new county of suburbia.

Ford said this is not the first threat of secession from Wayne County because of conflicts with Detroit. He said they usually are triggered by an unpopular official, a controversial issue or a lack of communication.

"I know it may be politically popular to kick Detroit around, but it's not in our best interest," Ford told the visiting dignitaries.

"Detroit is the reason for our existence," he said.

"There is no advantage to change from the largest county in Michigan to a middle-sized one, when most federal grant legislation starts with a 1 million population figure for reference," he added. "You have to shoot a cannon a long way through Western Wayne County to hit anything to tax, with the exception of Romulus."

Ford reported that even though it is becoming more difficult to convince Congress to financially help alleviate Michigan's unemployment problem, Wayne County would be the recipient of most federal money coming into Michigan this year.

For that reason alone, Ford cautioned patience and a rethinking of the idea of secession.

Ford concluded by saying he could talk to Brown and would be willing to be persuaded, but his immediate reaction was that the whole idea is "nonsense".

He added that if the issue came to a vote of the people, he doubted it would pass.

Gas company begins refilling storage fields

Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. has begun refilling its five underground storage fields, which last winter played a key role in the utility's ability to supply natural gas to all its one million customers.

"Our company's storage field system provided the crucial gas reserve which enabled Michigan Consolidated to maintain uninterrupted service to all its firm customers throughout last winter's extremely cold weather," said Charles R. Montgomery the utility's president.

Montgomery added that while other gas-short midwestern states were experiencing factory shut downs and school closings, Michigan's workers stayed on their jobs and schools remained open.

"Michigan Consolidated's storage field system enabled us to meet the unprecedented demand for gas caused by the coldest winter on record," Montgomery said.

"Due to the heavy demand for gas last winter, storage field supplies were depleted to a greater extent than in past years," he added. "However, we are now refilling the fields at a peak rate of up to 800 million cubic feet per day."

Gas being injected into the storage fields comes from producing areas in the Gulf of Mexico, the Texas-Oklahoma panhandle, Canada and Michigan. These deliveries are on schedule, and the utility expects to have the fields full by late summer. Michigan Consolidated operates five major storage facilities in Michigan's lower peninsula.

Three — the Columbus, West Columbus and Bellriver Mills fields — are located in south central St. Clair County. The W.C. Taggart Field and the New Haven Field are located in Gratiot, Montcalm, and Mecosta counties in central Michigan.

The storage fields are depleted gas-producing formations. Once the original reserves of natural gas were produced, the empty fields became ideal for storing large supplies of natural gas which had been produced elsewhere.

Montgomery explained that the company draws on these stored volumes of gas to meet peak winter heating demands and then refills its depleted storage fields during the summer months when gas is not needed for home heating.

Chessie Steam Special set 'old-fashioned' trip in state

Stop, look and listen will be the catch phrase this month when a steam-powered train begins operations in Michigan.

A chugging, smoke-belching Iron Horse from out of the past, pulling a string of equally old-fashioned passenger cars, known as the Chessie Steam Special, will arrive in Detroit Saturday night.

The steam train, which will be in Michigan until July 24, is on a 6-month tour of the Chessie System to help celebrate the Sesquicentennial of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the nation's first, and now a part of Chessie. The B & O was chartered on Feb. 28, 1827, in Maryland, and made its first ventures into Michigan in the late 1890s through connections with other rail lines.

More than 6,500 steam train fans have so far ridden the 18-car Chessie special since it started operations on May 7 out of Baltimore, and thousands more have lined the right-of-way to see it chug by. There have been trips every weekend. Chessie's project, in fact, has been described as "the single, greatest steam excursion train in American railroading history."

On July 9, the train will go round-trip from Detroit to Lansing and Grand Ledge and return, leaving Oak Yard at 8:30 a.m., Plymouth at 8:50 and arriving at Lansing's Michigan Central Station at 11:55 a.m. It will reach Grand Ledge at 12:25 p.m., and leave there for the return trip at 2:55 p.m., arriving at Detroit at 5:55 p.m.

On July 10, there will be a round-trip from Detroit to Saginaw. The train will leave Detroit at 8:30 a.m. and go through Plymouth and Hoyt, arriving in Saginaw at 1 p.m. It will return to Detroit at 4:45 p.m. The Detroit to Saginaw run will be repeated on July 16.

The train will leave Detroit on a 1-way run to Grand Rapids on July 17. It will leave Detroit at 11:30 a.m., and go through Plymouth and Lansing, with arrival at the C & O Station at Grand Rapids at 4:45 p.m.

On July 23, the steam train will make a round-trip from Grand Rapids to Plymouth, leaving Grand Rapids at 8:30 a.m. with arrival at 1:25 p.m. and return to Grand Rapids at 8:15 p.m.

The final Michigan run will be a 1-way trip on July 24, from Grand Rapids to Chicago, leaving at 12:30 p.m. and arriving Barr Yard in Chicago at 6:05 p.m. (CST).

The Michigan runs of the Chessie Steam Special are being co-sponsored by the Michigan Railroad Club of Dearborn, the Friends of Engine 1223 of Detroit and the West Michigan Railroad Historical Society of Wyoming.

Tickets — Michigan runs are available at Alex J. Elbling, Box 526, Pontiac; Michigan R. R. Club, Box 586, Dearborn; Friends of Engine 1223, 19205 Gainsborough Road, Detroit; West Michigan Railroad Historical Society, P.O. Box 9073, Wyoming; Hobby World, 1049 28th St., S.W., Wyoming and Myers Hobby House, 2136 Plainfield, N.E., Grand Rapids.

Fares are $20 for adults and $18 for children under 12 years of age for the round-trips. On the one-way moves, fares are $18 for adults and $16 for children under 12. Children under four ride free.

The train consists of open-window coaches, air-conditioned coaches, a premium-fare first-class parlor car and observation car, a combined car in which passengers can set up sound recording equipment and a snack and concession car. A gift shop featuring railroad items from the B&O Railroad Museum also is aboard the train.

Locomotive 2101, the steamer that pulled the American Freedom Train in the eastern states the past two years, will power the Chessie Steam Special. The T-1 class engine, 110 feet in length and weighing 809,000 pounds, has four pilot wheels, eight-driving wheels, each 5 feet-10 inches in diameter and four trailing wheels.

The ex-Reading locomotive, built in 1946, carries in its tender 26 tons of coal and 19,000 gallons of water.

Brown seeks state audit

State Rep. Thomas H. Brown (D-Westland) has called for audits by the State Auditor General to determine the stability of public employee retirement systems in Michigan.

Resolutions introduced by Brown request the audits of the State Employees', Municipal Employees', Public School Employees', Detroit Public School Employees', State Police, Legislative, Judges' and Probate Judges' Retirement systems.

"There has been considerable concern as to the proper funding, including the possible underfunding, of retirement systems," Brown said. "I have introduced these resolutions in the interest of the employees who are participating in these retirement programs."

"I feel that they should be assured that their retirement systems are fully and adequately funded and that their investments in the future are secure and producing the needed amount of interest to maintain their continued stability."

Brown noted that there have been questions about the unfunded liability of the various retirement systems. He added that the audit would be of value to the legislature which each year is called upon to appropriate funds into the retirement systems.

"It is important that before additional funds are appropriated to these retirement systems that the Legislature have audits, actuarial reports and other pertinent financial data," Brown said. "It would be tragic to permit these retirement systems to be underfunded."

72 adults receive high school diplomas

By attending free classes in Romulus Adult Education, 72 adults earned official high school diplomas this year. More than 300 friends, family members and special guests attended the graduation, featuring a cap-and-gown ceremony and dessert, honoring the graduates at Romulus Senior High School.

The ceremony was highlighted by presentation of the Lorena Burton "Courageous Student" trophy to two graduates, Eileen Wagner and Wylie D. Montgomery. Named in memorial of the former Romulus administrator who initiated adult education, the Lorena Burton Trophy is awarded annually to students who exhibit outstanding dedication throughout their adult high school careers.

Virginia and Ralph Kinzer of Stewart Drive, Romulus, found it a rewarding experience.

Virginia graduated from Romulus adult education and Kinzer passed his General Educational Development (GED) test through the Romulus program, making it a very successful year for the couple. Passing the GED test is the equivalent of a high school diploma.

Also receiving diplomas were Isidro Liendo, Christine Mackey, Joyce Tyler Manetta, Betty Masters, Russell Means, Alan

Miller, Linda Mills, Wylie Montgomery, Patricia Moomaw, Ellen Schultz Moore, Virginia Mullins, Shirley Parker, Better Pressler, Robert Pressler, Vivian Pry, Sandra Rakoczy, John Richey, Rosemary Riopelle, Rhonda Roberts, Lanny Robinson, Kathy Rocheleau, Sharon Roksandich, Sharon Rose, Richard Sawyer, Ute Schultze, Howard Schuman, Robert Smith, Larry Steele, John Stefanski, Brad Tanner, Corrine Vukovich, Eileen Wagner, John Way, Robert Wilks, Linda Williams, Lois Schultz Yoder and Harless Johnson.

William Smith, director of community education for Romulus, was very pleased with the ceremony.

"Romulus had seven adult graduates in 1970, the year before I came. This year we had 72 and look for even more next year," he said. "Approximately 400 have graduated since the adult education program started. It's an excellent opportunity for adults and we encourage adults to continue their education. They'll be glad they did."

Smith said Sept. 26 as opening day of classes for fall semester. Adults interested in returning to school to earn diplomas or take the GED test should contact Smith before Sept. 1 by calling 941-0610.

Interfaith service called a 'success'

A large turnout of senior citizens attended the interfaith service and picnic recently at St. Aloysius Church, 11280 Ozga Road, in Romulus.

Florence Klein of the Romulus Helping Hand, sponsors of the event, said she was very happy with the turnout and results. Many Romulus residents came, some bringing friends and neighbors.

Senior citizens brought box lunches and potluck serving to the free outdoor event which began at noon behind the church rectory. Parking and outdoor seating were provided for all those attending, as well as space for persons in wheelchairs.

The Rev. John Buehner, pastor, and Deacon John Budde helped oversee the outdoor service at which members of the clergy from other faiths were invited.

After the picnic lunch, the senior citizens spent the afternoon playing cards and listening to a "battle of the bands" between senior citizen "kazoo" units and other musical groups.

The event, co-sponsored by the St. Aloysius Christian Service Commission Helping Hand Operation Home Mission, was "a rousing success", according to Mrs. Klein.

"Oh m' gosh," was all Chum Stockwell could answer when a reporter asked him his most outstanding experience in 50 years of wedded bliss and active community service in Western Wayne County.

The stocky man with the perpetual grin and soft-spoken manner stood beside his wife, Helen, dressed natively in a light blue leisure suit with a dark blue sport shirt, brightened with a white flower design. She looked up demurely at him with a sly grin and said: "I could write a book."

And truly Helen Stockwell could write a book about Chalmers "Chum" Stockwell and the 50 years of married life they celebrated June 21 when 125 people turned out for their golden anniversary party at Lemontree Apartments. That number was made up mainly of family, relatives and close friends. There's no telling how many would have showed up if Chum and Helen had invited all the friends they've made in this area in the 35 years they've lived here.

They were married June 21, 1927, at St. John's Catholic Church in Jackson, Mich. They repeated those vows at an early evening Mass at St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Belleville last week as their five children, 26 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren looked on. Fr. John Kukla concelebrated with Fr. Charles Armstrong of Windsor, Ont.

Father Armstrong, known more affectionately to "Chum" as "Army" when they played baseball as youngsters in Windsor half a century ago, was a surprise officiant at the wedding.

"I hadn't seen 'Army' in about 25 years," Stockwell grinned. "Helen knew he'd be here, but I didn't." Music for the Stockwell's Mass was performed by 14 of their grandchildren. Wendy Sheehan played a guitar while 14 others sang.

At the reception later, Chum and Helen greeted guests from Toledo, Ohio, Jackson, Warren, St. Clair Shores, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Ada, New York City, Windsor and Springfield, Va. Guests included Mildred Frey, Helen's sister, who was an attendant at the wedding 50 years ago, and Patricia Kause, who was the flower girl.

The entire affair was a surprise to Chum and Helen. The Stockwell children had made all the arrangements. The Stockwells have three daughters and two sons — Suzanne Schwein and her husband, Frank; Mary Lou Sheehan and her husband, Leo; Sally Hannan and her husband, Neal; Tony and his wife, Dorothy, and Larry and his wife, Veronica.

Among the many greeting cards were congratulations from President Jimmy Carter and his wife, Roslyn, and from Gov. William Milliken and his wife, Helen. A great thrill for the Stockwells came when a big bus full of executives from Amway Corp. from Ada, Mich., pulled up. Amway is a company Chum and Helen have been happily associated with for the past 14 years.

Grandson Troy, son of Larry Stockwell, was the one responsible for contacting President Carter and Gov. Milliken and having them send congratulations. After a champagne toast to the happily-married couple, a luscious smorgasbord dinner was served and then the rest of the evening was spent in dancing and socializing.

Joe Benyo, a Westland Fire Department lieutenant and prominent man about town, served as master of ceremonies for the evening. One of Joe's pleasant duties

An even 50

Celebrating an even 50 years of wedded bliss are Chalmers "Chum" Stockwell and his wife, Helen, at their golden anniversary party June 21. Chum, who has a perpetual smile on his face and a kind word for all, has been well known around the Western Wayne County area for the past 35 years. Helen, who admits she used to be a "shrinking violet", has come on in the past 10 years with Amway Products to become a qualified spokesman of her own. — ANP photo.

was to read a resolution of tribute sent to the Stockwells from the House of Representatives, authored by State Reps. Thomas Brown and Gary Owen.

It read, in part, "It is with great pleasure that we congratulate and honor Chum and Helen Stockwell upon the happy occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. The happy and meaningful life that the Stockwells have shared for the past half century could not have happened to a more wonderful couple."

The resolution went on to praise them for their raising of a fine family. Then it said: "Through both good and difficult times, the Stockwells have stood by one another, sharing a mutual love, understanding and respect. During the Great Depression, they owned and operated Chum's Fine Foods in Wayne and later in Belleville. Now involved in the Amway Program, Mr. Stockwell regards himself as 'God's gift to the tired housewife.'"

It went on to note their community involvement and leadership. About this time, Chum and Helen got a lump in their throats while the applause rose in appreciation and love for the devoted couple who have so unselfishly helped others.

They first came to the Detroit area in 1930 when Chum worked in his brother's restaurant — Roy's Dutch Mill — the first drive-in restaurant in the state. In 1942, Stockwell bought an old gas station on the corner of Belleville and Ecorse roads to start a drive-in restaurant of his own.

"We knocked out both sides for windows," he laughed, shaking his head as the memories came flooding back. "The Willow Run bomber plant had just opened, and we were busy."

"That's right," interjected Helen. "It was a 7-day, 24-hour a day job."

Later in 1942, Chum started catering to Stinson Aircraft, which became Consolidated Vultee Aircraft on Van Born between Cogswell and Wayne roads. He also catered to four or five other plants in the area.

Then Chalmers — but wait, it doesn't seem right to call him Chalmers, even though that's his real name.

"My boyfriends called me Chum when I was a kid and as I grew older, the name just stuck," he laughed. "In fact, when I started my Chum's Fine Food restaurant on Michigan Avenue in Wayne in 1949, I put those words on the side of my car. Quite a few thought it was a Chinaman's shop," he chuckled.

Quite a few oldtimers in Wayne will remember Chum's Fine Food restaurant on Michigan Avenue between Third and Fourth streets.

"When I first bought the old Greyhound bus depot and remodeled it, a friend of mine said I wouldn't last 60 days," Chum recalled. "I went home and told Helen we could lease the building for only $1,000. It was a real bargain at that price — the only thing, we would end up spending $40,000 to renovate and remodel it."

"We were so deep in debt, we had to look up — but somehow the good Lord always has taken care of us and we're very grateful."

The Stockwells sold the Wayne restaurant in 1967 and went full-time into selling Amway products, a venture they started part-time in 1963. Like everything else they've tried, it turned into a successful venture.

During his days in Wayne, Chum was very active, serving at various times in several clubs and organizations. He's been in the Wayne, Westland and Belleville Chambers of Commerce. He's also been very active in the area Lions clubs, especially in Wayne and Belleville, and has just been elected president of the Council of Lions Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit.

Even though the president-elect doesn't take office until July 1, the ambitious 70-year-old Stockwell chirps: "I've already accomplished three of my goals for the coming year." He was co-founder of the First Friday Club in Wayne with Fr. Kreft, a former pastor of Wayne St. Mary Catholic Church.

"I'm sorry, but I can't remember Fr. Kreft's first name," apologizes Stockwell, sheepishly shrugging his shoulders. Chum helped found the St. Mary's Dad's Club also and was very active in helping the Capuchin Charity Guild in Detroit feed hungry people.

"We always had a late dinner on Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas," recalled Helen, "because Chum was always helping the Capuchin Guild on those days."

Chum recalled two incidents involving Associated Newspapers, and especially The Wayne Eagle.

"When Dick Root was president of the Wayne Jaycees quite a few years ago, we needed some publicity for our March of Dimes crusade," Stockwell said. "We walked in and told Wes Willett (father of the present owner, David Willett) of our need and he gave us so much publicity in The Wayne Eagle we went way over the top."

The other remembrance was of photographer Lothar Konietzko, who was on hand last week to snap many pictures of his longtime friends, Chum and Helen.

"I was involved in Lothar's first assignment for The Wayne Eagle after he came over to this country from Germany. He couldn't speak much, if any, English. We were waiting at Willow Run Airport and had held up an Eastern Airlines plan for about an hour."

"We were sending hundreds of loaves of homemade bread from Chum's Fine Food to the south, in cooperation with the Wayne Moose Lodge. I was furious when Lothar finally arrived about an hour late," Stockwell recalled.

"I don't recall much about the picture, but that was my first meeting with Lothar, and we've had many times together since then. He was always trying to get a picture of me napping at one of our many meetings."

"One time we had a boring speaker, and I was so disappointed I folded my arms and closed my eyes as I rested my chin on my chest. A few days later I got an envelope through the mail. It was a picture Lothar had snapped while I was resting and the caption read: 'Sleepy Chum.'"

For the active Chum and Helen Stockwell, it may have been the only time anyone has ever caught him "napping".

Chum and Helen mark 50 years of matrimony

Links Cadillac, Manistee, Ludington

154-mile trip is slow paced scenic tour

(This is the seventh in a series of 15 weekly articles on bicycle touring through Michigan. These features are designed to encourage Michigan tourism and promote bicycling near population centers.)

A 154-mile circle bicycle tour linking Cadillac, Manistee and Ludington offers slow-paced, scenic views of lakes, forests and northern Michigan farm country, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The towns along the way are steeped in history. Manistee is an Indian word for "spirit of the woods". Cadillac is named for an early French explorer, and a huge cross atop a high hill at Ludington marks the spot where pioneer explorer Pere Marquette died in 1675.

Since the trip is long, bicyclists may decide to tackle it in sections. One 60-mile segment travels between Cadillac and Manistee. A 27-mile stretch from Manistee to Ludington is partly along Lake Michigan's shore, and the last lap stretches inland for 67 miles from Ludington to Cadillac.

Each section offers views of lakes and some of the state's finest scenery. There also are inns and lodges for overnight stops, plus restaurants. Three state parks en route can accommodate outdoor enthusiasts.

The trip from Cadillac to Manistee winds along M-55 to M-115, which heads north past Lake Mitchell and William Mitchell State Park. Watch for Boon Road. A sign directs travelers west on Boon Road to the villages of Boon and Harrietta. Boon Road becomes Coates Highway after crossing the Wexford-Manistee County line.

The State Fish Hatchery at Harrietta, open daily from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., raises rainbow trout for Great Lakes plantings. Hadenpyle and Tippy dams on the Manistee River also are points of interest.

Coates Highway, a tree-lined road through rolling hills, joins US-31 (Chippewa Highway) 29 miles west of the hatchery. M-110, seven miles southwest of that junction, leads north off US-31 to Orchard Beach State Park, a 201-acre facility with 180 campsites located on a high bluff overlooking Lake Michigan. The park is two miles north of Manistee.

Manistee is flanked by Lake Michigan and Lake Michigan. First Street Beach Park on Lake Michigan has picnic tables and grills as well as comfort facilities. The Old Water Works Building on First Street has early lumbering days exhibits and the Russell Memorial Museum offers pioneer exhibits.

If leaving Manistee for Ludington, turn right one block off US-31 on any downtown street to Maple Street. Head south six miles on Maple Street to County Line Road and go right one block to Quarter Line Road, then south six miles to Town Line Road and jog right to Stiles Street.

Follow Stiles, Fountain and Angling roads and Dewey Street through the trees and past Hamlin Lake to Lake Shore Road for a pleasant, 7-mile ride along Lake Michigan into Ludington.

Just above Ludington, M-116 leads north into Ludington State Park, with three miles of sandy beach on Lake Michigan and four miles along Hamlin Lake. The 4,000-acre park has 414 campsites and miles of foot trails. The only marked bike trail on this tour leads eight miles along Lake Michigan, from Ludington into the state park.

Ludington is a fishermen's hot spot, with Lake Michigan to the west, Lake Hamlin on the north and Pere Marquette Lake to the south. The American Salmon Derby is headquartered at Ludington each summer. The city is a port for car ferry and passenger service across Lake Michigan.

Among other attractions are the city park on Lake Shore Drive in the downtown area and the Rose Hawley Museum with displays from Ludington's past.

To reach Cadillac, reverse the 14-mile route followed into Ludington from Stiles Road and head east 10 miles on Fountain Road to the village of Fountain, an old-fashioned hamlet among rolling hills studded with dairy farms.

The unpaved extension of Fountain Road winding around Ford Lake to Millerton Road through dense forests and past cottages is one of the most scenic segments of the tour. That 7-mile stretch is the only unpaved road on the entire tour, but it is hard-packed and well-graded.

Turn north off Millerton Road on Hamilton Road, which connects with Old M-63. That highway passes through the Marquette State Forest. Follow Old M-63 and Skookum and Bristol roads to connect with US-131 into downtown Cadillac. There is a rest area on US-131 near the junction of M-115.

At Cadillac, 32-acre William Mitchell State Park has wooded areas, sandy beaches on Lakes Cadillac and Mitchell and good fishing. Cadillac's Kenwood Heritage Park is on Lake Cadillac.

Bicyclists should pace themselves according to their ability. The League of American Wheelmen estimates the average bicyclist can cover 30 to 50 miles a day with ease. A card and pamphlet containing bicycle safety tips are available free at all Automobile Club of Michigan offices.

If a bicycle jaunt combining lakes, forests, tiny villages and northern resort towns has appeal, then take this 154-mile circle tour linking Cadillac, Manistee and Ludington. All three communities are along lakes and Automobile Club of Michigan points out that each town offers parks, camping facilities and a choice of good restaurants and lodging facilities. The trip takes cyclists past farms and through forests, with glimpses of lakes, streams, and wildlife along the way. The 60-mile route from Cadillac to Manistee runs alongside Lakes Cadillac and Mitchell, passes through towns with names like Boon and Brethren and goes by the Hadenpyle and Tippy dams. Manistee is sandwiched between Lake Michigan and Manistee Lake. The 27-mile stretch from Manistee to Ludington travels along rolling farm country dotted with forests, past 4,000-acre Ludington State Park and along Lake Michigan into town. The 67-mile segment from Ludington to Cadillac winds through the trees around Ford Lake and passes through the Pere Marquette State Forest.

Red Cross says: 'Learn to swim'

Whether you chose a vacation at one of Michigan's many lakeside resorts or stay at home and enjoy your private pool, the Red Cross urges you to learn to swim or improve your swimming abilities.

In the meantime, here are some safety tips to follow this summer: —Watch small children most carefully in and around the water. Even in supervised areas and at shallow wading pools, mere seconds of inattention can be tragically fatal.

—When swimming a long distance, have someone with you and stay close to shore.

—Swim in a safe place. The presence of lifeguards usually indicates the area is safe for swimming. Stay away from the area immediately in front of a diving board and do not swim near piers or pilings.

—Before diving, make sure the water is deep enough and there are no submerged rocks or other hidden objects. In pools look for depth markings before diving.

—As a swimmer, know your limitations and stay within them.

—Wait at least an hour after eating before swimming. Do not swim when overheated or overtired.

—Make certain that reaching poles, buoys and similar rescue gear are readily available at your swimming area. Don't depend on an inflated toy or inner tube to hold you up. It may slip from under you.

—Whenever a thunderstorm threatens, get out of the water—it is a conductor of lightning.

Owners must register mo-peds

Michigan mo-ped owners can begin registering their vehicles, according to the Secretary of State's Office, which is responsible for administering the state's new mo-ped law.

The new law calls for the registering of all mo-peds used on public streets and highways in the state. In addition, mo-ped drivers must possess either a regular driver license or a Michigan special restricted license.

The special restricted licenses cost $7.50 for four years and are obtainable by qualified persons at least 15 years of age.

The vehicle registration decals which are used instead of metal license plates cost $6 for a 3-year registration period—or $2 per year.

Secretary of State Richard Austin noted: "These requirements were passed by the legislature last year as part of a bill which made many changes in the law covering motorcycles, motorized bicycles, mini-bikes and motor-scooters. It eliminated the motor-driven cycle as a separate category of vehicle. All these vehicles now are considered either motorcycles or mo-ped, and all must be registered, if driven on public roads."

"Michigan is one of 23 states where the legislature has passed specific laws governing the operation of these 2-and 3-wheeled motorized bicycles," he added. "Because of their considerable economy—including an average fuel consumption rate of 120 to 200 miles per gallon—they are becoming an increasingly important form of short-haul, low speed transportation."

A mo-ped is defined as any motorized bicycle-type vehicle which has workable pedals, a motor of no more than 50 cc piston displacement, no more than 1.5 brake horsepower, and a top speed of no more than 25 mph on level surfaces.

And 2- or 3-wheeled vehicle which doesn't meet all these specifications is now classed as a motorcycle.

In many states, a person may lose his driving license if caught in an act of treason!

An editorial opinion

Westland commended for festival

Success "almost" always fosters and perpetuates success. But, the city of Westland did not leave anything to chance in regard to its eighth annual summer festival last Fourth of July weekend. The six months of hard work and planning of nearly 100 Westland citizens was repaid with an outpouring of orderly festival goers numbering in the thousands daily. Mayor Tom Taylor called the event "a tremendous success." Co-chairman Judge Thomas Smith reported he was "well pleased" with the orderliness of the crowds and the "well-rounded" format which he felt contributed to the overall enjoyment of those who attended. Glen Shaw, city assessor, who served as liaison for the festival, termed it "super" and proclaimed the community endeavor "better than ever." He added, "It seems that each year, the festival is better than last year, and this year is no exception." Mayor Taylor was enthusiastic in the "spirit of togetherness" which was exhibited by the throngs of residents from Westland and throughout the area who flocked to take part in the variety of events scheduled, and for the first time in the festival's history, to enjoy the rides and midway atmosphere of a bonafide carnival. Although its backers say it is too early to determine how the Westland Summer Festival fared financially, there is no doubt of the success it attained, due in large part, to the combined efforts of citizens of all ages who wanted the world to know how proud they are of the city in which they live. For their hard work, diligence and devotion to a community-unifying cause, we wholeheartedly commend the sponsors of the festival and all who helped make it a success. In this modern-day age of television, diversity of activities away from the home, and an almost national pulling away from doing things as a family unit, we feel such community endeavors as the Westland Summer Festival helps to unify the inhabitants solidly into a homogenous unit — one large family. In fact, those who put the festival together emphasized previous festivals and the current one as "a family affair." We applaud them for their wisdom in concentrating on this aspect of life in America. We also agree with Mayor Taylor in his pat on the back to festival sponsors for making this year's event a pilot project to embrace contributions by all community service groups and churches. The mayor stated he believed this last addition to the festival format will make it "the forerunner of bigger and better festivals to come." We believe that it will. As the publishers of newspapers in six communities in which we take an avid and sincere interest, we are of the opinion that Westland's neighbors would do well to emulate this forward-looking young suburb and stage similar projects. A community, whether it be a town, a township or a city, will grow more rapidly and more wholesomely if those citizens who live within its boundaries work together as often as possible. What better vehicle to unify and weld citizens of a community together than an endeavor in which they work side by side for a common purpose. An annual event such as the Westland Summer Festival would be a "natural" for the fledgling township of Canton, now in the throes of trying to expand in the midst of a multitude of problems in which neighbor is often pitted against neighbor. We again commend Westland for its community pride and the ability to follow through with a visible, concrete example, such as its annual festival, to display the willingness of its residents to work together as a single cohesive force for community good. We hope that others will follow Westland's lead in "blowing their own horn," so to speak, for we feel that the Westland Summer Festival was done in the American way.

Health beat

Volunteers provide a valuable service

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

Francis of Assisi, once in one of his many homilies, said, "...for it is in giving that we receive." Although he spoke these words in the early 13th century, they seem to have a particular applicability to a group of volunteers who, seven days a week, provide a most valuable service to the administration and patients at the Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. The specific reference is to the Annapolis Hospital Auxiliary — an active group of 81 women working in concert, and often at substantial personal sacrifice, to share with the sick the talents which we have all come to associate with the Auxiliary. Parenthetically, we must add that although we used the noun women, the Auxiliary is not an enclave of women to the exclusion of males. Indeed, applications from men are accepted, and shortly it is expected that the first man will be inducted into the Auxiliary. The current President, Gwen Spence, explained the purpose and philosophy behind volunteer service. "We recognize," she said, "that there are many tasks to be performed around the hospital which do not require a degree in medicine, or laboratory technology, or nursing, or any other professional discipline. "Still, in our efforts, we do frequently see and talk with patients and are able to make a contribution to the over-all well being of those patients. "Frankly, she said, "we spend these hours in Annapolis because we like people. And, if you like people, you have to care about them when they are sick and looking for help outside of the purely medical ministrations offered by the professional staff." She said that just three years ago, the Auxiliary donated to the hospital a check for $55,000.00 which was subsequently used by administration to purchase a gamma camera for the Nuclear Medicine Department. According to Mrs. Spence, the Auxiliary has, over its 18 years of existence, donated "close to $150,000.00 to Annapolis Hospital." The principal source of income for these magnificent donations is the Gift Shop which is operated entirely by the auxiliary. Fran Sheposh, Vice President, sat in on the interview and she added to Mrs. Spence's remarks. "We have been able to decorate the hospital chapel, redecorate the Pediatrics service, and help in the purchase of bedside monitors and close-circuit TV cameras for the Cardiac Care Unit. When I asked Mrs. Sheposh why she donated so many free hours to the Auxiliary she said, "I was raised in Coalport, Pennsylvania. It was depression time, and to be candid, there was little money in the family treasury for college tuition. I'd thought seriously about nursing as a career because I like helping people and being useful. But, if you remember the depressions days (I do!), you know that it was all most families could do to keep body and soul together. So now, some 40 years later, I'm finally able to satisfy a childhood dream. I've given many hours to the hospital, and I'd have it no other way." In talking with Mrs. Spence and Mrs. Sheposh, we were interested to learn that, although these two women carried titles within the group, there was no aura of chief vs. Indian. Indeed, we've been fortunate enough to know many of the Annapolis Auxiliaries, and if there is a common denominator which can be applied to this group, it's the total lack of self aggrandizement which characterizes their relationship with each other. Mrs. Spence said, "We are, of course, all unpaid volunteers working for a common good. We welcome new members, and can assure any one thinking about membership that they will be warmly welcomed and will fast become actively engaged in one of our many projects." We found this philosophy refreshing in that too often organizations — and we've belonged to some — find themselves being run by a select few who ultimately destroy the organization. Happily, this is not the case with the Annapolis Hospital Auxiliary. "We all pitch in," said Sharon Scott, "and do the things expected of us. And on a given day, our personal responsibility might include transporting in-coming patients to their room, delivering mail and flowers to patient rooms, operating the lending library, sitting in on the reception desk as a relieve help, delivering newspapers, or operating the mobile gift cart." And Mrs. Scott, like the others we talked to, was quick to emphasize that the Auxiliary worked as a team. "Our Auxiliary is open," she said, "and we plan to keep it that way." Space, unfortunately, is limited and it's impossible to list the names of all the volunteers (although we do just that at Christmas time in an ad we buy to say thanks for the past year of hard work.) However, one more name must be mentioned; that name is Norma Boyes, a young lady of 80 years who still finds time to serve as a volunteer — and that's not a typo, age 80 is correct! Auxiliaries come in all sizes, shapes, ages, and colors. If you are interested in giving a few free hours each week, contact at Annapolis Hospital Auxiliary, 722-4400 ext. 204. Be prepared to work without monetary compensation, and you'll even have to buy your own uniform. Maintains Legislature to blame for teacher strikes

To the Editor:
Your editorial and the letter from Larry H. Hay requires a response from the other side - ie. teachers. Being "sick" is not a method devised by teachers to get pay while striking. Not being allowed to use the methods established by unions over the last half century or more was not the teachers' idea. Teachers have been legislated and court

"decisioned" into such action. It is the legislature which requires making up the days lost not teachers. It is the legislature and court interpretations (Crestwood) which have prevented teachers from taking the established "modus operandi" (ie. strikes) of all labor bargaining units. Who among you can be fired for striking? Teachers want a contract, one that ensures your children a good education through workable class sizes and enables teachers to keep up with the cost of living. (In spite of what Mr. Kaulitz implies, teachers did not get any cost of living increase since the contract ran out.) Perhaps Mr. Hay and the public in general is unaware that most contracts in the Wayne County area have been expired for almost a year. In this regard, all other union members must agree that teachers' patience, by union standards, has been phenomenal. Most unions in this area walk out the minute their contract expires. Given this information, it is obvious that there are only three methods to avoid further "blackboard flu" epidemics. —Give teachers a viable contract by the time the old one expires (or in this case, before school lets out in June). —Legalize strikes and remove the 180 day requirements or —Legislate automatic cost-of-living raises for teachers. Instead of condemning teachers for using the only method of protest open to them, why don't you insist that the Board of Education and the Legislature allow teachers the prerogative to strike in the same way they have allowed other labor groups to strike, or have you union members forgotten your struggle?

Appeal school district decision

To the Editor:
The Parent Action Committee has appealed the decision of the Wayne County Intermediate School Board, denying transfer of property from the School District of Inkster to the Cherry Hill School District. We feel this decision did not take into consideration the safety and transportation problems our children face, in traveling isolated areas to and from the Inkster Public Schools. We are actively pursuing a solution to these problems. Sincerely, Mary Bryant, Chairperson Parent Action Committee Inkster

Urges support for Anita

To the Editor:
This letter is concerning Anita Bryant and her fight against homosexuals. In Genesis 19 it states the city of Sodom was destroyed mainly because of homosexuality. If we do not watch carefully the same fate as Sodom awaits us. Our morals have sunk as low as they can get, we are a sick nation. Our churches should be backing up Anita. We should not be silent now. The "silent" majority better start speaking out now. It seems the homosexuals get together in thousands to throw their garbage at decent people. Where are the decent American people that believe in God and Christianity? You are really silent. Sincerely, Mrs. Stan Venslewicz Wayne

Claims police abused father

To the Editor:
I would like to complain about the physical abuse of my father and the mental abuse of my family suffered at the hands of the Wayne Police on Thursday, June 9, 1977. Where do they get the authority to come on private property and remains a person forcibly without a written complaint and valid signature. Not only did they take him off his own property but once they got him to the police station he was denied his rights by taking his personal property without issuing him a receipt for same. I'm writing this letter to make other people in this community aware of what's going on within the police department in our city. Kathleen Simmons Wayne

Inmate asks help

To the Editor:
I am writing with hopes of you printing this appeal. I am in prison where I have served over seven years. My confinement is expected to end this October and I am greatly concerned about what awaits me on the outside. In preparation for my coming release I have attended school (both academic and vocational) as well as taken some long, hard looks within myself. For the most part my time has been well spent, enabling me to accomplish about all I can towards direction and purpose. There is a growing confidence in my ability to adapt and progress once I'm free, but I do not relish the thought of starting a new life alone! I am 26, with varied interests though there hasn't been much opportunity for worldly experience. Once released, hard work and patience should keep me from returning, but I need desperately to hear from someone willing to write and help me with what will soon be a major crisis in my life. Prisoner asks letters

To the Editor:
I am an inmate in prison in Eddyville, Kentucky. I have no family or friends to write to and, if I may say, I'm lonely and need someone to correspond with. I'm locked in a world of darkness, with such an unbelievable hatred all around me. If you will please consider my situation and print a small notice in your paper asking for correspondence, I would deeply appreciate it. I'm lonely and need to correspond with people in the free world. I'm male, white, and 28 years old. I'll gladly answer any and all letters I may receive, with no exceptions. Once again, I thank you. Park crime demands legislation

As you may know, a number of prominent officials in the western Wayne County area have joined me in forming a special task force to study the problem of crime in the Hines Park area, and to recommend methods of dealing with it. This task force will hold its first formal meeting in the very near future, probably this week.

I would hope you have not had the misfortune of personally experiencing the harassment and vandalism which have been on the increase in the park area in recent years. However, a great many people have, and a look at the statistics shows this:

In 1975, the total number of park-related complaints was 2,443; in 1976, 2,475. The arrest figures, however, tell quite a different story: 1,329 in 1975 versus 2,004 in 1976. Thus, while the number of complaints remained initially the same, the number of arrests increased by over 50 percent.

This indicates that the seriousness of the things complained about has increased to the point where the law enforcement officials involved feel obliged to arrest most of those who have given others cause of complaint. While the increased arrest-complaint ratio is a tribute to the caliber of our local police work, it is also an alarming indication of the caliber of those who use—a better word might be “invade”—the park is deteriorating.

Statistics for 1977 are not very encouraging. Through May 25, there has been 625 arrests based on 863 complaints. This is already roughly one-third of the figures for 1976, and we are not yet into the peak season of park use.

I am afraid that any statistics on park use would show a decrease in the number of families who are using or contemplating using the Park for leisure-time activities. This is undoubtedly due to the increasing crime problem in the area.

It is really too bad that a small minority who do not respect the rights of others are being allowed to bully people and to, in effect, dominate the park. Anyone who has trouble within the Park if course talks to his neighbors and this word-of-mouth effect is what has been keeping people away from Hines Park. The community involvement will improve only when the crime situation improves.

That's why I have been pleased that so many community leaders have been willing to join with me in determining solutions to this problem. Mayor Taylor, Police Chief Rechlin and District Judges Evan Callanan and Tom Smith, will be working with other police officials, city administrators and judges from this area in an effort to find effective answers. They are familiar with the situation and will be able to provide valuable input.

Possible, although by no means definite, solutions may include increasing the financing for local law enforcement agencies, changing the criminal code to give judges greater flexibility in ordering stiffer sentences for repeat park-related offenders, and the creation of rehabilitation work programs in the park for those community crimes there.

You will also have a chance to offer your suggestions on how to deal with the Hines Park situation. In the near future, I'll be sending out questionnaires to people living in the park area so that my may let us know what you feel the major problems are and what you think should be done about them.

For the immediate future, we may be able to get some relief through the Wayne County Sheriff's office. An emergency request has been made to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to provide more deputies to patrol the park area, since we are now entering the season of peak use. The sheriff's office presently has the sole responsibility for patrolling the park and while they've done a decent job, they, themselves, have said they can at best assure safety in just two-thirds of the park with the forces they presently have.

More deputies would mean greater safety for the public.

Also, the House has indicated it's desire that the State Police contract with the Sheriff's office in order to provide for the patrolling of Detroit's freeways, a job which

ROBERT LAW
State Representative
36th District

is presently handled by the State Police alone. If this proposal goes through, there is the possibility that some of this state-sponsored force can be used to patrol the park, which after all accommodates a mayor.

We all realize that we will never be able to completely eradicate problems in the park, short of shutting it down. But, we all want to make the park a better place for the people of western Wayne County and that is the goal our task force will be working for.

All about medical malpractice laws

There has been house action on a number of bills which relate to health care, health care personnel and nutrition.

One of them would extend for two more years the state-operated medical malpractice insurance fund.

Two years ago, the legislature passed a series of bills in response to the crisis. In medical malpractice insurance. One of them established a fund to provide the insurance for doctors and other health care providers who, at the time, were increasingly unable to obtain it from private insurance carriers.

There was just one insurance company writing the bulk of malpractice insurance, after several had withdrawn from the Michigan market.

The state fund was an emergency, stop-gap measure, which was due to expire on July 1, 1977. The bill approved by the house and sent to the senate would extend the fund for another two years, or until July 1, 1979.

The extension was recommended by the state insurance bureau, which reported that although the crisis has eased, there is still a need for the fund. It was indicated, however, that it may be possible to discontinue the fund at the end of the two years.

The premium rate for malpractice insurance is still high, although it is not soaring as it was at one time. In addition, the Michigan State Medical Society and the Michigan Hospital association both established their own mutual insurance companies in 1976.

At the present time, the state-run insurance system services 30 percent of the individually insured doctors in Michigan, making it the second largest such insurer in the state.

The language of the bill would make it clear that the fund is not considered a permanent part of state government.

The bill makes several changes in the original law. One of them changes the manner of assessment to provide that all physicians would be assessed to make up any deficit in the fund. Currently, only doctors insured by the fund are liable for assessments to make up any possible deficits, but it is reasoned that all physicians practicing in the state benefit from the availability of the insurance and all should contribute to it in time of need.

Actually, the fund has been stable and has never had a deficit, so that it is unlikely that this assessment will ever be levied.

There was also approval for another bill which would protect licensed practical nurses who render aid at the scene of an emergency against civil liability, provided there was no gross negligence or willful misconduct and no previous professional relationship between the nurse and the patients.

Michigan's "good samaritan" law presently exempts from civil lawsuits only physicians and registered nurses who provide on-the-spot emergency treatment, but, by their training, practical nurses should also be competent to offer emergency care.

Hopefully, the bill will encourage practical nurses to come to the aid of accident victims and other persons needing emergency treatment by freeing them from the fear of a lawsuit arising out of their kind deed.

Proper nutrition is closely related to health. Another bill approved by the house would emphasize that this establish an office of nutrition within the department of public health.

That agency would be responsible for planning and coordination of a statewide nutrition program, working in cooperation with health systems agencies, local health departments, local government and health profession associations.

It further would review and evaluate existing nutrition programs, serve as a coordinator and clearinghouse for information of federal and state nutrition resources and activities, aid local agencies the development of nutrition programs, and make recommendations to the governor and legislature on developing, modifying and funding nutrition services.

The legislation would also establish a state-wide nutrition commission which would advise the office of nutrition and approve or disapprove its state-wide nutrition plan.

In the interest of nutrition for children, the legislature passed a bill last year requiring school districts which have not already done so to establish school breakfast, lunch and supplemental milk programs by October 1, 1977.

However, there have been objections by some school administrators over the breakfast program who maintained it would further stretch already tight school budgets and that the program should be on a voluntary basis since it is not always needed. The house recently approved legislation which would relay for two years the start of the mandatory breakfast programs, and then phase in the services over a three-year period. In addition, breakfasts would have to be offered only to full-time students. The house also added language requiring the state to reimburse schools for all direct and indirect costs of the breakfast program.

Senior citizens—our nation's hope

Too often is heard the cry, "Our youth is the America of tomorrow!"

In a physical sense, that is true. Our children of today will grow up to be adults of a few years hence.

But, of all the segments of our populace who seem to never get the recognition to which they are entitled, it is our senior citizens, those who have retired from the work force voluntarily or who were forced to quit because of physical reasons or company regulations.

Those in their golden years who live in today's America do not receive the respect, confidence and trust to which they are entitled. Generations ago, it was commonplace for married couples, even with large families, to take care of their parents financially, and in many cases, to let them live within the family home.

Not so today. Many are neglected by the very offspring to whom they devoted their lives, shunted off to nursing and convalescent homes, because they are bothersome or in the way. Naturally, if senior citizens had their way and could afford it, most would rather live alone and should. But, in those cases where hardships exist, whether it be a physical impairment or lack of finances, children should do their utmost to look after their fathers, mothers, aunts, uncles, grandfathers, grandmothers and those relatives who have no one else to look out for them.

Years ago, almost every teenager would open the door for an older citizen or give up his seat for a member of the older generation, especially of the feminine sex. Almost every with "No sir!" and "Yes sir!" But, today, those respectful and polite words are unknown to many of our "America of tomorrow" children and teenagers.

The fault is with the parents and teachers not with the child. A boy or girl reflects what he is taught at home in the family circle and at school. With today's family torn asunder by a variety of diversions—television, automobiles, boats, movies, etc., the close-knit bonds between family members and between friends and acquaintances are rapidly becoming a thing of the past.

Many today believe in what is considered to be an obvious fact, that the world has progressed in a multitude of ways. In the area of respect for the wisdom and knowledge of elders, we have not! In ancient Greece when the average lifespan was less than half of what it is today, members of the Greek Senate had to be at least 80 years of age! That's how much the ancient Grecians respected the elders of their day.

Many Americans today could take a lesson in civility, humility and respect of their fellow man from the peoples of nations in yesteryear. The past is a great teacher for those in the present.

Our society should find ways to utilize the technical knowledge, experience and training of senior citizens, who although 65 or older, are perfectly capable of performing some jobs as well as those in their 20s and 30s.

Such a waste of talent, of skill, of brainpower! To one reared in an era when elders were respected, our senior citizens are our greatest natural resource, to a much greater degree than our youth, who must be trained, exposed to experience and tempered by time, before they can begin to compete on an equitable level.

Youth of today — it's not very hard to say "Sir."

Mrs. Clean's visit

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

Until last week I thought I had outgrown my fear of Mrs. Clean. But when I saw her coming up the walk I hollered for my kid to answer the door while I stood on the hole in the carpeting.

Mrs. Clean swept in with a flourish and plopped her self on the sofa while I washed in horror as a little dust clouds whirled around her. But she didn't say anything, she just waved the dust away with her white, white handkerchief.

"I thought maybe you'd like to hear a bit of gossip," she said after coughing for awhile. "Why don't you sit down?"

"Oh sure," I answered, motioning for my boy to push a chair over the hole on which I was standing. "I love gossip. Everyone in town knows how much I love gossip," I told her.

"Well," she said. "You know Mrs. Hustler down the street? It seems..." Just as I was getting interested she stopped. "A good scrub brush would fix up that tile on the fireplace," she said. "Oh, we have a scrub brush," I hastened to assure her. "But the bristles are all worn out."

"You could use good old elbow grease, then," she said. "I personally would never have tile that looks like that."

"I can't afford any grease out of my elbows," I began. "You see I get these dirty little ridges that are all dried out."

"Your elbows you can cover up," she said. "But that tile!" And she began clicking her teeth and didn't stop until Uncle Gunnar brought in the coffee tray. "Have some coffee," he said.

"What kind of polish do you use on that silver tray?" she asked eyeing it with a wary look.

"Mother uses the same polish on that as she uses on the tile," my kid said from under the piano where he was studying. "I thought so," Mrs. Clean said, sipping her coffee.

"About Mrs. Hustler..." I began tentatively.

But what she had come to say had slipped from her mind. She finished her coffee, adjusted her hat and said she had to get on. She had an appointment with Mrs. Hustler for a bit of gossip.

"It's a wonder you all don't have allergies," she said as she swept out the door, followed by a couple of fuzzy-wuzzies which had been hiding in the corner of the hall.

"She didn't even ask about that giant in our washing machine." I mourned as I pushed the chair back in place. "And I didn't get to find out about Mrs. Hustler."

"Oh well, Mom," my kid sympathized. "You can make up the gossip, but Mrs. Clean can't make up those fuzzy-wuzzies!" That was mighty comforting.

Male role changing

By GEORGE R. PLEGENZ

If only because of the title, "Father Knows Best" would probably not be a popular TV show today.

The meteoric rise of the women's movement has tarnished the "authority image" of the American father — and the American male in general.

"About the only vestige of dominance the male has been able to hold on to," notes one female observer, "is in driving. When a man and woman are in a car together, the man is almost always still at the wheel."

But if father has lost his place "at the wheel" in other areas of life, out of this overall loss of esteem a liberated father may be emerging on Father's Day 1977 to go with the heightened new concept of family life which is becoming evident.

The male "father figure" may be giving way to the male "mother figure." Or at least a combination of both.

The cover of U.S. Catholic magazine this month illustrates this new male role with a picture of an attache case stuffed with a teddy bear, baby bottle, pencil and legal pad — with four pink-headed safety pins lying alongside.

The article to go with the illustration is entitled, "Daddies Should Be Mommies."

"It seems to be that what we could use nowadays," says author James Breig, "is more fathers who act like mothers, more dads who give as much time to their offspring as mamas do. Maybe what fathers need is a rededication to their role in the home. Respect and a shinier image will follow."

The implication in there that, if a father wants to have a feeling of importance around the house, he will get up on Father's Day this year and make breakfast for the children and mama while she stays in bed.

"This is not to feminize men," says Breig, "but to liberate them in a real sense — liberate them from a secondary status in the most pressing business in the world — that of bringing up a child."

In a poll of readers who read Breig's article before it was published, only 40 percent agreed with the statement that "Mothers are more effective than fathers in raising children and small infants."

Yet most of the respondents (62 percent) grew up in a home where the father did not help regularly with the cooking and cleaning and the raising of the children.

"I seem to observe an encouraging trend in the newest generation of young parents," wrote one reader. "Beginning with the father's very active participation in labor and delivery (by way of prepared childbirth classes), these couples are treating child bearing as a shared experience. If this trend continues, all will be winners — fathers, mothers and children."

The fact that domestic relations judges are awarding child custody to divorced fathers in many more instances indicates that a father's capabilities in raising children are being more widely appreciated.

If law is approved

Michigan moves to end child pornography

Michigan will become one of the first states in the country to protect children from being exploited in pornographic material, if legislation adopted in the Senate is signed into law.

The 2-bill package, sponsored by State Sen. David A. Plawecki, of Dearborn Heights, prohibits the use of children under 18 years of age in pornographic material and imposes tough penalties on violators of the measures. The legislation also establishes reporting procedures with the Department of Social Services when cases of child pornography are suspected.

"I am pleased that the Senate moved so promptly on this needed legislation because I believe it will protect many children from the undue emotional, psychological and physical harm that is caused by the pornography trade," said Plawecki. "As the sponsor of this legislation I want to make it clear that my intent is not to interfere with the First Amendment's freedom of speech guarantees; however, no rational person can possibly believe that such guarantees include the right to exploit young children sexually."

"Hopefully, this legislation will also prompt other states across the country to enact similar protective measures," he added.

According to the Dearborn Heights Democrat, the current absence of any federal or state laws prohibiting child pornography has resulted in the widespread use of children in pornographic materials.

"It has been estimated that some 1.2 million children nationwide have been exploited in this manner," said Plawecki, "while in Michigan alone, police have investigated 12 locations where the pornographic use of children has been reported."

"A total of 80 children are believed to have been involved in Muskegon and 30 are suspected to have been exploited in a case in Flint."

Although Michigan has laws governing sexual abuse involving an adult and a child, none deal with acts performed solely by children when they are allowed, encouraged, or enticed by an adult to participate in sexual activity for commercial purposes.

Under terms of Plawecki's legislation, anyone who allows, arranges or attempts to permit children under 18 to engage in an abusive sexual act for a commercial purpose would be guilty of a felony punishable by a jail term of up to 20 years, a fine up to $20,000 or both.

Persons who make or finance or attempt to produce or bankroll obscene material involving youths also would be subject to the same penalties.

Anyone who plays an "incidental" role in the production or financing of pornographic material involving children under 18 would be liable for a jail sentence of up to 7 years and a $10,000 fine.

Persons who market or display child pornography also would be guilty of a felony punishable by a maximum 7-year sentence and a $10,000 fine.

"By imposing harsh penalties on anyone even remotely involved in this traffic," said Plawecki, "we should be able to help eliminate the child pornography industry throughout the country, not just drive it out of our own state."

"In addition to imposing strict penalties on people who abuse children in this way, my legislation includes a provision which should make it easier to identify those people and bring them to trial," Plawecki said.

Smith supports 'open sale' of child development center

While emphasizing that he is not anxious to dispose of the former Child Development Center near Northville under any conditions, Wayne County Commissioner Royce E. Smith nevertheless will continue his support for an open market sale in order to resist use of the facility as a prison.

Smith explained his tactic in an interview after a June 16 meeting when the County Board of Commissioners referred the open market proposal back to the Public Works Committee for more study and recommendation.

The plan to sell the property to the highest acceptable bidder was introduced by Commissioner Alex Pilch of Dearborn, with co-sponsorship from Smith and Thomas Presnell of Westland, all members of the Public Works Committee.

Approval of an open market plan would create competition for a state offer to buy the 300-acre facility for use as a prison, Smith explained. He noted that a majority of 14 votes of the 27 commissioners is needed to put the property up for open sale.

The proposal was referred back to the committee by a vote of 12-9 with one abstention.

Hestressed: "I am not all eager to sell the property under whatever circumstances, but if we must sell I want it to serve on the tax rolls, and not as a Michigan prison."

"I would hate to reject the open market idea at this time, then later discover that enough votes exist to authorize the prison sale."

"It is important to understand too, that even if we do approve the open market sale, we still can pick and choose our options and reserve that privilege for as long as we want."

"Approval of the open market concept," Smith continued, "does not mean an automatic sale to anybody, but it will allow us the freedom to review an alternative other than the state's."

Tax return not needed to fix property assessment

State Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has ruled that a county equalization director may not enforce a demand upon a person to produce his federal income tax return when determining that person's personal property assessment.

In a letter to State Sen. Gary Byker (R-Hudsonville), Kelley wrote: "It is my opinion . . . that a county equalization director may not enforce a demand for delivery to him of copies of a taxpayer's federal income tax returns to determine the correct assessment of personal property."

Byker had asked Kelley to rule on the question.

The equalization director is authorized under state statute to conduct certain discovery proceedings in determining property assessment, Kelley said, but requiring disclosure of a federal tax return does not fall within that authorization.

Sections 18 through 21 of the General Property Tax Act require a person to submit a written annual statement of personal property owned by him or held for the use of another and set penalties for failure to comply. This statement is to be considered evidence, but not final or conclusive, as to the taxable personal property of the person furnishing the statement.

Section 22 of that same law provides that the county equalization director may take testimony from persons, under oath, who might have knowledge of the amount of value of any property owned, held or controlled by a person who has not filed such a statement.

Kelley wrote: "The foregoing provisions may be viewed as statutorily authorized discovery proceedings. While they are broad and extensive, ultimately allowing an assessment deemed reasonable and just by assessing officials, these discovery proceedings do not authorize compulsory access to federal income tax information."

Country music fans can see their favorite performers in person at the famous Grand Ole Opry when The Associated Newspapers tour group visits Nashville on Aug. 27-29.

At the same time, visitors can view the first annual Country Music and Crafts Festival at the 217-acre Opryland amusement park.

Crafts, clogging and music will be featured at the festival, with mountain craftsmen and artisans making and displaying their work. Handmade quilts, barnwood paintings, pottery, candle carvings and toys will be displayed. The festival also will include special country music shows in the Theatre-By-the-Lake.

The tour, guided by Tour Director Gene Wertz, will leave Metro Airport at 7:30 a.m. Aug. 27. A tour of the city will be taken on Saturday with a visit to the Grand Ole Opry slated in the evening. All day Sunday is scheduled at Opryland. Tours of Nashville—the Music City—are planned for Monday. A return flight to Metro Airport leaves Nashville at 3:40 p.m. Monday.

Total cost of the trip is $245. The price includes tips, baggage handling, transportation, air fare, admissions and all meals, except for lunch on Sunday.

Interested persons should contact Gene Wertz at PA9-4000.

Westland CBers care enough to WATCH

By JANICE PLESIEWICZ
Nightbird KNN 5032

I recently had an invitation from the CB group called watch of Westland to come down to their base location and see what they were all about. I had heard of this group before, but never knew too much about them. I accepted their offer to visit and go out on patrol with them.

When I arrived I was greeted by four of the members, who by request, shall remain nameless. I was shown around the room that the group operates from and introduced to the other members present. You might be asking yourself what is WATCH? It's a group of dedicated CBers who are residents of Westland, that work somewhat with the Westland Police Department, but mostly on their own patrolling the streets and several other locations in the area, being on the lookout for any crime, violence or accidents. There is no payment made to them by anyone for their services. They are not employed by the City of Westland or Police Department. WATCH is also not considered to be a social club. There are no social events involved nor are there any membership fees to be paid. How can this group afford to operate? The money comes directly out of the members' pockets. The vehicles, gas and whatever else is used in running this group is paid for by the members themselves.

It's not that easy to become a member of WATCH either. First of all, the group prefers that a member be a resident of Westland. Some exceptions have been made, but not many. The person wishing to become a member must fill out an application (available at the Westland Police Department) and then have a series of background checks made by the police. The applicant must also be willing to undergo fingerprinting. You must, of course, own a CB radio and know how to use it properly. While this group does not get directly involved in any activity they might report, they will render assistance to the Police Department, if they are asked to do so. An example would be in the case of a traffic accident where the police cannot arrive immediately, they would direct traffic until the police arrive.

When asked if the community knew about this group, I was told that some of the residents were aware of their presence, but that no one knows for sure who the members are or where they are when out on patrol. The cars are in no way marked (except for a CB antenna) which doesn't tell the public much. Operating days and times vary week and are kept strictly confidential.

I went out on patrol with one of the members. We drove around the Westland area looking for anything suspicious happening. Nothing was happening, it was a quiet night. Communications from mobiles to base were kept as short as possible. After being on patrol for awhile I found one thing that bothered me. At the end of each transmission from the mobiles only unit numbers were used to clear the channel and not FCC call letters. The base would sign off with their call letters so why not the mobiles? When I asked a member if they used any call letters at the end of their transmissions to answer was "no". Nothing else was said.

To sum it all up, the group WATCH has a good idea and purpose behind them. They seem to be operating quite smoothly and getting their jobs done. There is a lot of information that is kept confidential about the group, but it's that way for a reason. I was impressed with what I saw. A group like this not only helps the local authorities with their job but it gives the residents of the community a feeling that there are people out there who care.

G1 trucks

John Barr (right), chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, turns over the keys for one of 25 Army surplus 2 1/2-ton trucks, valued at nearly $500,000, which the county acquired for $8,000 shipping costs. The low-mileage vehicles will expand the fleet of County Road Commission trucks used in freeway, road and park maintenance. Accepting the keys is Thomas P. O'Rourke, road commission managing director. The trucks were acquired through the Wayne County Office of Emergency Preparedness.

County acquires G1 trucks

John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, has announced the county's acquisition of 25 Army surplus 2 1/2-ton trucks, valued at nearly $500,000, for $8,000 in shipping costs.

The famous Army "duce-and-a-half" troop and equipment carriers were obtained under the federal surplus equipment program through the Wayne County Office of Emergency Preparedness, and agency of the county board.

"These vehicles will be used for freeway, road and park maintenance and for wintertime road plowing and salting," Barr explained. "We acquired these trucks for the $8,000 cost of railroad shipping from the Waterslea Arsenal near Albany, N. Y.

"They represent a good deal for the taxpayers of Wayne County both in terms of savings and in terms of the additional service they will provide."

The Army currently is paying about $20,000 apiece for 2 1/2-ton tandem axle trucks, according to George Young, director of the County Office of Emergency Preparedness.

"Obtaining these trucks at virtually no cost was particularly important at this time because the Road Commission has hardly any money available for equipment replacement at present," said Thomas P. O'Rourke, managing director of the road commission.

Although of Korean War vintage, the trucks have been driven an average of only 20,000 miles "and will give the people of Wayne County years of service," Barr said.

The trucks arrived in their olive drab Army paint, but are being given fresh coats of the bright orange paint used on the County Road Commission's vehicles at the commission's yard in the City of Wayne.

Barr noted that this is the county's third major recent acquisition under the federal surplus equipment program. An Army surplus "MASH" type field hospital was set up in April at Detroit Metropolitan Airport to serve as an emergency medical center, able to accommodate some 200 injured, complete with surgical facilities, for use in the event of an accident or natural disaster.

The field hospital was valued at approximately $20,000 and was obtained by the county for $25.

The County Office of emergency Preparedness also has distributed 50-bed packaged emergency first-aid stations among some 20 local communities for use in natural disasters or other multiple injury situations.

The next monthly meeting of the HELP Organization will be held on July 20, at the Warren Valley Golf Course at 7:30 p.m. The golf course is located on Warren Road at Beech Daly in Dearborn Heights. Also, the Romulus Chapter of HELP will be holding their next monthly at the Romulus City Hall Council Chambers on July 25 at 7 p.m.

TODAY'S Real Estate

by M. Phyllis Crabtree

Land was so plentiful at the beginning of our country that it was given away. The King of England and the Duke of York gave large grants of land to Penn. Calvert, Oglethorpe, Carteret, Berkeley, and others. In turn, these new "land barons" were expected to give the land to the new settlers in order to encourage immigration. Even the trading companies of the period used land to further their expanding activities. Today, land is scarce. But with the help of us, your professional, land buying, settling, even speculation can be made much simpler.

THE REV. E. W. RAIMER
Pastor
Tri-City Assembly of God
Canton

'What happened to fear of the Lord?'

God is a good God! He is full of love, and compassion and mercy. I John, Chapter 4 verse 16 reads: "And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us, God is Love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in Him." There are a number of verses of scripture that refer to the compassion and mercy of the Lord. Psalm Chapter 86 verse 15 says: "But thou, O Lord, art a God full of compassion, and gracious, long suffering, and plenteous in mercy and truth."

There is no greater love than the love of God. Love began with God. He is the source of love. Matter of fact, God is love. The Bible says, "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16

Let me repeat, God is a good God! He is full of love and compassion, and mercy. Many people have no time for God. They are too busy to serve Him. Too busy to go to church, but not too busy for pleasure or anything else they may desire to do. Isn't it amazing how we always find time to do the things we want to do? And yet so many neglect the most important thing of all, their spiritual lives, their eternal, never dying souls. Man is more than a physical being, he is a spiritual being as well.

Within this physical body is something of far greater value.

Within our physical body dwells an eternal soul. It is important to take care of the most important thing we possess — our eternal soul.

I am amazed at so many people who never have time for God, who always want to blame God for everything that goes wrong. The Bible says Satan is the God of this world; why not blame him? Which brings me to the very heart of this message.

"What has happened to the fear of the Lord? This troubles me. Have we as ministers been so busy preaching about the love of God, that we have failed to warn men and women about the judgment of God? I agree, we need to preach about the love of God.

We need to speak of the love that sent Jesus to the cross to die for our sins. It is important also to remember in this day of "glorified sin" and ungodliness, that there is a day of judgment coming.

The apostle Paul in writing to the Church at Philippi, said, "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling." — Philippians 2:12. In writing to the Hebrew saints, he said: "How shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation," —

Hebrews 2:3.

What has happened to the fear of the Lord? The Bible says: "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." — Proverbs 9:10. It also says: "And by the fear of the Lord men depart from evil." — Proverbs 16:6. Men continue to sin because they do not fear God. They fail to realize there is coming a day when man will have to give an account to God for the deeds done in this body. — Romans 2:6.

The Bible has much to say about the judgment of God and the results of that judgment. Jesus said: "Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming in which all that are in the graves shall hear His voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation."

In the book of Revelation, Chapter

20, verses 11 - 20, we read of the great white throne judgment. St. John writes: "And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away; and there was found no place for them. And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened." and another book was opened, which is the book of life, and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books according to their works.

Many laugh and joke about going to hell, saying they will have a lot of friends there. This may be, but how can you enjoy them if there is weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth? How can you enjoy them if it is a place of torment? Jesus died to be your Saviour, tomorrow He may be your judge. Accept him today as your Lord, and your Saviour. You will be so glad you did.

Times, how they change

This group of third grade students at Cory Elementary School in Romulus learned what it was like back "in the good old days". They had just finished reading the "Little House" books by Laura Ingalls Wilder and dressed up the garb of the 1800s. The girls wore long dresses and sunbonnets, while the boys dressed in overalls, shirts, suspenders, straw hats and other similar attire. Teacher Lenora Bird's third graders also had a mid-1800s lunch which consisted of vegetable soup, oyster crackers, bread and butter, canned peaches, vanity cakes, milk and a stick of hard candy. — ANP photo.

Strengthens state powers

Legislature passes toxic chemical bill

A bill to strengthen the state's ability to control toxic chemicals has passed the Michigan legislature, according to Sen. John Hertel of Harper Woods.

Hertel, sponsor of the bill, said the new law gave the Department of Agriculture the power to go on to private property and take samples from animals they have reason to believe are contaminated with a toxic substance.

This problem came to light during the recent PBB contamination when it was determined that the state had the authority to go on to private property to test livestock for disease, but had no authority to test animals suspected of being poisoned by chemicals. This inability led to delays in determining the extent of the spread of PBB when certain farmers refused to allow state officials to check their animals for PBB.

Sen. Hertel said: "It is critically important that the state have the ability to react quickly to protect the public. The only way we can prevent the contamination of our food by toxic substances is to give the Department of Agriculture the power to go on a farmer's land to determine if his animals are contaminated and what they are contaminated with.

"Once we know the facts we can prevent the further spread of the poisonous materials. In addition, the state could act to immediately remove any tainted meat before it reached the consumer.

"The state will now be able to investigate all claims quickly to dispel any doubts about the purity of the food supply."

Hertel pointed out that under this legislation the Department of Agriculture must give 24 hours notice before entering any premises. Further, all entries must be made at a reasonable time and manner. Also a written statement must be issued by the director, indicating the reasons, conditions and procedures for the test. This statement and the results of the test are automatically public record under this law.

Hertel said: "It is important to report the results publicly, in order to avoid unfounded hysteria or suspicion of a cover up. It also is important to understand that any time we give the state new power, we must place restrictions on those powers. The protection of the rights of those affected necessitates these restrictions."

Give a hoot—Don't pollute!

Don't spray weeds now

Tips from the Garden Doctor this week include:
Q: I've got all kinds of weeds in my lawn. What can I use to get rid of them?

A: It is very likely you will get rid of all the weeds by the use of one herbicide. If you send samples of your weeds to our office, we will identify them and give you control recommendations. Be patient; now is not the time to apply a weed killer, and the herbicide will not be very effective.

Q: Last year I had apple maggot. Is it time to spray for this pest?

A: Yes. One should begin spraying Diazinon the first of July and continue to spray at 10- to 14-day intervals right up to 14 days prior to harvest. Apple maggots are the most serious pests we have in home orchards.

Q: I sprayed my vegetables with Isotex and then read the label. It said not to be used on edible crops. What can I do now?

A: The safest thing one can do is destroy the plants. Always read the label on the package before you use it on various plant in your yard. One always learns by one's mistakes.

Q: If I kill my poison ivy with Amitol-T as suggested by your office, can I work around the plants?

A: No. If you are allergic to poison ivy, you will still be affected. Protect yourself with gloves and knee socks and take a thorough bath with lots of soapy water immediately thereafter.

Q: I have a Chinese elm whose leaves are being eaten up. What's the bug and how do I kill it?

A: It's the elm leaf beetle larvae and spraying with Sevin will keep them under control.

Owen-Pillada marry

East Tawas church scene of wedding

A June 11 altar date was chosen by Rebecca Pillada and David Owen who are both serving with the U.S. Air Force at Wurtsmith Air Force Base in Oscoda.

Double ring vows were solemnized by The Rev. R. Salisbury at Church of Christ Episcopalian in East Tawas before some 60 members of the immediate families and close friends.

The two o'clock rite united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pillada of Lake Tahoe, Calif. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen of Belleville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a white lace gown with a scoop neckline enhanced with venise lace and seed pearls. Rows of lace frosted the skirt front with streamers of lace accenting the back and chapel-length train.

Her floor-length illusion veil, edged with a wide border of lace, was held by a clipped headpiece. Her colonial bouquet was comprised of white baby roses, blue baby's breath and white streamers.

As her roommate's only attendant, Elizabeth Grajowski of New Britain, Conn., donned a pale blue gown trimmed in cornflower blue with a puckered bodice, spaghetti straps and 3-tiered skirt. The circular bouquet she held was made of blue carnations and stephanotis.

A fellow airman, Rodney McGeathy of Caseville, served as best man.

At the reception which followed in the NCO Club at Wurtsmith, the bride's mother received guests in a salmon chiffon gown with a matching shoulder cape where she pinned her corsage of baby white baby roses. A similar corsage in yellow was presented to the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Owen, who chose to wear a pale yellow polyester gown with cape sleeves.

The newlyweds spent a week-long honeymoon at Cocoa Beach, Fla. and on June 26 A-1c Owen flew to Sembach Air Force Base in Sembach, Germany to begin his new assignment. His bride will join him there in a few months.

The new Mrs. Owen graduated in 1975 from Sunnyside High School in Sunnyside, Calif. Her husband is a 1973 alumnus of Belleville High School.

Library gets facelift

The grounds surrounding the Fred C. Fisher Library in Belleville underwent an early summer facelift June 27 when Girl Scouts from Junior Troop 616 of the Haggerty School Cluster put their spades, hoes, rakes and green thumbs to use. Several of the group took charge of a flower bed near the library courtyard. Colette Rochowiak (pictured from left in top photo), Karen Herrmann, Leslie Zager and Kim Black receive a little advice and help from Mrs. Ada Posthumus of the Van Buren Garden Club, as do Shelly Domen, Anne Krafve and Kim Fitzpatrick and Lisa Neil, Kathy Zager, Janice Clark and Ann Oliver. Sweeping leaves and cleaning the driveway entrance were the tasks undertaken by Jana Steiger (bottom picture, from left) Becky McArthur, Christie Wisniewski, Janet Oliver, leader of the troop; Carol Krafve and Mary Coles. The troop chose the library as the target for its service project three years ago and, along with the Van Buren Garden Club, keeps the grounds pruned, clipped, weeded and beautified. Lois Krafve is assistant leader of the troop.

Around town

The forecast was showers

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

With her August wedding date just a few short weeks away, Nancy Ostrowski had the pleasure of being guest of honor at a bridal shower on the afternoon of June 26.

The salad luncheon, held at the Roger Ferguson home on Harris Road, was given by Diane Ferguson and Pat Shephard who were assisted by Verdys Shephard.

The blue and yellow color scheme of the wedding was used to decorate the living room where some 20 guests enjoyed vieing for prizes during the planned game session. Mary Ferguson of Belleville took home the door prize for having chosen the "special" miniature lapel parasol prepared especially for the award.

Guests were presented little souvenirs of the shower made by the hostesses and 10-year-old Shari Ferguson: packets of tissue decorated to resemble books with the inscription "Nancy and Brian" on the cover.

The group, who came from Montrose, Trenton, Flint, Ypsilanti, New Boston, Belleville and Boynton Beach, Fla., later watched Nancy unwrap the pretty, colorful new items for her future home. Of special interest to the women was a hand-crocheted afghan, a gift from Jennie Sliwa of Belleville. Shari Ferguson, who's to be flowergirl in the wedding, handed packages to her future aunt while bridesmaids, Mary and Annette Ostrowski, cared for the ribbons and wrappings.

While his bride-to-be was being "showered", Brian Shephard was out with the "fellas" (the men in the family) flying model airplanes which they had constructed. Following the shower they returned for a six o'clock buffet supper prepared by Verdys Shephard.

Nancy and Brian will exchange vows at St. Anthony's Catholic Church on August 5.

Family marks

triple event

A trio of events was celebrated June 19 when the Al Raleigh family of Romulus got together at Lower Huron Metro Park. Close to 60 were on hand for the potluck picnic which marked Mrs. Raleigh's 70th birthday, the 50th of her daughter, Myrna Jones of Detroit, and the wedding anniversary of Gibbs and Marty Hanson of Warren who were making their 13th year.

Guests — both relatives and friends — traveled from Grand Rapids, Galesburg, Rochester, Warren, St. Clair Shores, Wayne, Allen Park, Detroit and Romulus to join in the fun. Baseball, horseshoes, badminton and frisbee were the afternoon entertainment along with several races and scrambles for the younger set.

The "birthday gals" both received sets of lawn chairs to mark the occasion while the anniversary couple was given barbecue tools and a thermos jug.

Shower outfits

expected heir

Gayle (Walls) Plourde, who came from Harpers Ferry, W. Va. to attend her brother, Donny's high school graduation on June 8, was an honored guest herself just 10 days later.

A cradle shower in anticipation of the Plourde's expected heir was hosted by her mother, Lee Walls, for some 20 relatives and friends at her home on Savage Road June 18. Word games and card bingo were played with Lucy Scheffler of Belleville winning the door prize.

The afternoon party, at which the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. May Chapman of Belleville assisted, was highlighted by a buffet lunch and then the opening of those many, wee gifts. Guests came from Litchfield, Ohio; Holland, Detroit, Birmingham, Mt. Clemens and Belleville for the festivities.

The first little Plourde is expected to arrive July 7 and since that's the "expectant grandmother" (Lee's) birthday, she's hoping her present that day is her first grandchild.

Local woman elected state DAV treasurer

Mrs. Phyllis Holland, a member of Chapter 120 Auxiliary of Disabled American Veterans (DAV) and a Belleville resident, was elected to the post of treasurer of the State Department of Michigan.

Election was held during the state convention held June 17-19 at the Hyatt Regency

Hotel in Dearborn. Mrs. Holland is a past commander of the Auxiliary which serves Wayne, Belleville, Romulus and Westland.

MR. AND MRS. SAMUELE E. BROWN

Sam Brown, Barbara Walker repeat June wedding vows

A week-long honeymoon in Kentucky followed the recent marriage of Barbara Walker of Ypsilanti and Samuel E. Brown of Belleville. The young couple exchanged double ring vows June 4 before The Rev. Richard Crawford at Calvary Baptist Church of Ypsilanti.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. James Walker of Ypsilanti and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Brown of Belleville.

Two candelabras and a unity candle graced the altar for the two o'clock ceremony attended by some 200 relatives and friends. Organ music for the occasion was played by Nancy Wiggle of Ypsilanti and sung by Mrs. Shirley Hawks whose selections were "A Wedding Prayer" and "We'll Walk Together with God."

Escorted up the aisle by her father, the bride appeared in a bridal creation of white polyester satin designed with an oval lace yoke traced with a polyester ruffle to match that at the neckline. Other styling details included long, full sleeves and a chapel train complementing the softly gathered skirt.

A little lace crescent secured the bride's fingertip illusion veil with a large circular hand bouquet of yellow and peach daisies and baby's breath completing her ensemble.

Attendants in gowns fashioned identically to the bride's were Mrs. Christine D. Luebke of Ann Arbor who was her sister's matron of honor; Belva Rae Brown of Belleville, the bridegroom's sister, and Susan Court of Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Luebke was distinguished by the peach and white sheer floral print which covered her peach polyester underskirt; the other two bridesmaids being dressed in peach frocks with floral printed sleeves, yoke and ruffle.

The baskets they carried contained flowers to match those in the bridal bouquet.

William Mosey of Ortonville performed the duties of best man. Robert Luebke of Ann Arbor and Steve Kotlarczyk of Belleville were groomsmen. Ushers were Terry and Jerry Hallbrook of St. Louis, Mo., cousins of the bridegroom, and Gary Beaster of Ypsilanti.

Carrying out the color scheme of the wedding, the bride's mother's gown was peach with a sheer peach and blue flowered overlay. For her son's wedding, Mrs. Brown chose to wear a long peach floral gown. Both mothers were honored with corsages of roses.

A 4-tiered heart-shaped wedding cake was served at the reception which followed in the church parlors.

The newly wed Browns, who are now making their home in Belleville, are graduates of Calvary Christian Academy in Ypsilanti. The new Mrs. Brown is employed as head cashier at Hughes and Hatcher of Arborland and her husband is manager of Campus Tuxedo Shop in Ann Arbor.

Twenty-three guests attended the rehearsal dinner hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the China Star Palace in Westland.

About deadlines

As is the case with most human beings, we fail to see what we're not looking for or fail to see what we don't want to see.

In this particular instance we are referring to deadline notices which we attempt to print each week on the Suburban Living pages — boxed in notices that say "Suburban Living Deadline, Thursday, 2 p.m."

There's a reason for this deadline, be assured of that. We have to have time to prepare copy to be taken to the typesetters in our production office in Wayne.

With news coming across our desk and via the telephone throughout the day, there has to be time in which to write, re-write and edit copy as well as to compose heads and outlines and plan layouts for the next issue.

We ask that you please try to remember that 2 p.m. Thursday is the cut-off time for accepting news which you expect to see in the following week's Suburban Living section. We will gladly take items after the deadline but, more likely than not, they will be a week late appearing in print.

Your cooperation will get your stories printed on time.

Jay Youngs are parents — it's a girl!

The proud papa broke the cigar tradition and instead was handing out roles of peppermint candy wrapped in pink and carrying the big news — "It's a Girl."

The happy news travelled fast around Romulus City Hall, especially since the new daddy is Jay Young, whose job with the city is public information officer.

Young and his wife, Linnea, are parents of a 5 lb. - 13 oz. baby girl, born at 2:17 a.m. June 29 at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The infant's name is Kristin Joy.

Mr. and Mrs. William Young, long-time residents of Wayne who live on Mildred Street, are brand new grandparents with the arrival of Kristin Joy. She is their first grandchild.

The second set of grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson, who live in Chicago, where Mrs. Young is originally from.

"Can we tour your funeral home?"

As professionals dealing with death and bereavement, we funeral directors feel a close kinship with the clergy. We work closely with them before, during and after the funeral services.

It is for this reason we extend an invitation to members of the clergy in Wayne & Westland to visit with us, view our facilities, our staff and directors. It also becomes an opportunity to discuss how we can serve more appropriately your congregations from a religious view point.

This invitation is also extended without reservation to those whose professional or personal interests would be served or benefitted by our "open house" visit. Please phone in advance so we can personally spend this time with you.

To further indicate our desire to share our common concern with the clergy, we offer the use of our Library of professional reference books on death and dying. These are likewise available to other interested persons.

Quietude: 24 hours of peacefulness

By MAUREEN BEATTY

"Quietude" — Webster defines the word as, "repose; tranquility." He might also have added: "A state of being no longer existing in today's culture". Quietude — gone with the 10-cent cup of coffee, the patrolman walking his beat, and the $10,000 medium priced house. Our street once knew quietude. If we listened for sound at night we could hear an occasional happy bark, the sound of a dog greeting its master. Now the sounds of traffic all but drown out the television, and the speeding cars, screeching their brakes at the corner stop sign, make an uninterrupted night's sleep an impossibility.

company a thank you card. They allowed me, for 24 hours at least, to travel back to better days, days when quietude was a way of life.

Cold water drowning doesn't mean death

People who have drowned in cold water aren't necessarily dead — even if they have been under water for half an hour.

This is the conclusion of a new study by a University of Michigan lung disease and diving medicine specialist. In a paper presented before the American Lung Association in San Francisco, Calif., Dr. Martin J. Nemiroff reported that he has documented intact survival of nine persons who were submerged without oxygen in cold water from four to 38 minutes.

They were saved by a primitive response which still exists in the human body to maintain a spark of life that under the right conditions, can be revived even after many minutes under water.

This finding has important legal and moral implications for physicians and emergency medical workers, Dr. Nemiroff said. In the past, many drowning victims declared dead actually could have had some potential for life, he explained.

His advice to rescue workers and doctors now is: "First, don't give up. Even if the victim looks dead. He may be cold, blue, not breathing with no detectable pulse or heart-beat and with fixed and dilated pupils.

"Start resuscitation immediately, external heart massage and ventilation with as near 100 percent oxygen as you have available. Warm the body gradually from the inside by raising the temperature of the oxygen to 110 degrees with a nebulizer.

"Maintain CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation) at least until the body temperature reaches normal. Defibrillation—shocking the heart into action—may not be successful until normal body temperature is reached."

Dr. Nemiroff based his conclusions on 50 near-drowning incidents in Michigan waters he investigated over a 3-year span. His study is federally funded by the Michigan Sea Grant Program, a cooperative effort of Michigan State University and the U-M.

Dr. Nemiroff, who participated in, or consulted on, many of the resuscitation efforts, said he selected 13 cases considered to be true "cold water drownings"—those in water below 70 degrees. Of the 13 near-drownings, nine were successfully resuscitated without brain damage or other ill effects; two died of lung infections contracted in the water and two suffered brain damage. All had gone beyond the traditional 4-minute oxygen deprivation limit after which, it was previously believed, irreversible brain damage must occur.

What saved the survivors, Dr. Nemiroff said, was the activation, after the face is submerged in cold water, of a little known automatic response in mammals, called the "mammalian diving reflex", as well as the coldness of the water.

First identified in the 1930s in whales, seals and porpoises, the reflex allows these sea-going mammals to exist and function under water, without breathing, for up to 30 minutes in an emergency. The automatic reflex greatly reduces the blood supply to the skin, muscles and gut—tissues which are resistant to oxygen-loss damage, and reserves the remaining blood oxygen for the vital brain. Cold water also reduces the oxygen need of tissues, further lengthening survival time without external oxygen, Dr. Nemiroff added.

'First, don't give up. Even if the victim looks dead.'

Although man quickly becomes unconscious after involuntary submersion, the diving reflex still functions in cold water, allowing the heart to maintain a feeble, but constant supply of blood to the brain extending possible survival in very cold water, perhaps up to one hour, Dr. Nemiroff said.

The record so far in his study is held by an 18-year-old Jackson, Mich., college student who, in late March 1975 was trapped in his car and submerged in a frozen pond for 38 minutes.

"The car rolled over after breaking through the ice, eliminating the possibility of an air bubble," Dr. Nemiroff said. "The patient recalled struggling, inhaling water and losing consciousness."

When he and a companion were brought to the surface, both had no life signs and were declared dead at the scene. When they were being loaded into an ambulance to be taken to the morgue, the student's body gave an agonial gasp—a sort of involuntary belch often associated with death—and resuscitation on him was started immediately.

After a high speed ambulance run to U-M Hospital, two hours of resuscitation and 13 hours of respiratory support, the student regained consciousness and recognized his mother. Two weeks later he left the hospital to return to college where he is an A- student. His companion in the car—whose body made no sounds and was not resuscitated—died.

Another survivor in the Nemiroff series was a physician who "drowned" in a lake near Ann Arbor, but was resuscitated in a hospital after 15 minutes of submersion. As with the college student he had no mental impairment and has resumed his practice.

"These two cases illustrate, that the 'Karen Ann Quinlan syndrome' is not the inevitable consequence of oxygen deprivation—under cold water conditions," he said. Duration under water, the temperature of the water, age of the victim (the mammalian reflex is more pronounced in children) and prompt resuscitation efforts are the key elements to intact survival.

Another, similar study of drownings and near-drownings in Florida waters over 70 degrees showed that, above this temperature, four minutes submersion appears to be the cutoff point for brain damage and-or survival, Nemiroff said.

However, in Michigan and many other states near large bodies of water, the year-round temperature, especially in deeper areas, is well below 70 degrees. The protective effect of the diving reflex also is lost, he cautioned, as soon as the victim is removed from the water. Resuscitation must start immediately at the water's edge. He observed that the one fatality out of 13 in the Michigan study was submerged only for four minutes, but his resuscitation was delayed until the victim reached the hospital—a crucial period of 10 to 15 minutes. The factor of youth also was very evident in the study since nine of the survivors were below 3½ years of age.

The U-M physician also advises doctors to "be prepared for resistance from relatives".

Dr. Nemiroff noted that, to his surprise, many relatives were opposed to CPR or even demanded that the doctor stop revival efforts. "There appears to be a lot of guilt associated with drownings and relatives tend to feel 'it's no use; or that you are somehow 'desecrating the body', or that you may 'bring back a vegetable'," the physician said. "In several of these (13) cases, we had relatives who were furious with us for extending resuscitation, only later to see their 'dead' loved one make a full recovery."

"Follow your own judgment. Be absolutely certain the patient is dead before you give up."

In years past, the daily walk to the small corner grocery store and back provided a time for inner reflection, a time of quietude. Grocery shopping now is accomplished once a week by most, hearty souls bracing themselves against the sound of squealing carts, crying children, screaming mothers, and the battle for the right of way in the aisles. But recently I had the pleasure of once again experiencing quietude. My phone was out of order.

Never having had to exist without a telephone before, my first reaction was one of panic. I hurried to a neighbor's to report the catastrophe to Michigan Bell. A voice informed me that Ma Bell was not scheduling any more service calls that day. I would have to wait until the following day to have my phone repaired. Could I survive?

I first noticed the peacefulness as I prepared dinner. The telephone didn't ring while my hands were busy kneading the meatloaf mixture, nor did it ring during other crucial moments that demand attention when preparing meals.

Dinnertime was unusually pleasant. Our crescent rolls were neither underdone, (I have, in the past, forgotten to set the timers when the phone rang) nor overdone, (I still haven't mastered the technique required to silence a non-stop talker). The spinach souffle didn't fall, while someone inquired if our carpeting needed cleaning, dinner didn't get cold during a lengthy explanation of a new food plan, and no one called to ask for a donation to their favorite charity just as I was trying, for the hundredth time, to explain to the bread winner why meatloaf has taken the place of steak in our house.

In the evening I found I was not restricted to the house in case someone called with a message for my husband, in fact, since no one could call him away, we spent one of our rare evenings together, enjoying the silence.

Best of all, I did not climb out of the bathtub that night, or miss the plot of a good movie on TV, just to have some inevitable wrong number hang up in my ear. I just might send the telephone

On 100th anniversary

Exhibits looks at phonograph

The 100th Anniversary of the phonograph will be commemorated in an exhibit of the inventions of Edison and other early phonograph pioneers at Greenfield Village, now through the end of December.

The exhibit, "Music for Everyone: 100 years of the Phonograph," assesses the public impact of these devices and traces their development from the earliest, hand-cranked cylinder machines to the electrically-operated phonographs of the early 20th Century.

The exhibit will be at the library of Thomas Edison's original Menlo Park Laboratory Compound in the village. This famous complex, the world's first industrial research laboratory, was moved from its original site in New Jersey to Greenfield Village in 1928 by Henry Ford.

The exhibit's duration at the village corresponds closely with Edison's 6-month effort in 1877 to develop and perfect the phonograph.

Visitors can view a replica of Edison's original tinfoil phonograph, and actual early phonographs, such as the 1888 Edison Improved Phonograph and the 1887 Columbia "Ten Dollar Gramophone." There also will be on exhibit the first disc phonographs, called the gramophones, which were built in 1897 and played music recorded on rubber discs.

The display also includes Edison's Gem and "Home" phonographs, which were highly popular among rural families.

Later developments are represented by the 1902 Early Victor Talking Machine, and the 1918 Victrola Model VVXI. The latter model contained the first amplification horns to be housed in a decorative cabinet.

Other 20th century developments include the 1916 Edison Diamond Disc, which employed improved record discs, and the electrically-powered Orthophonic Victrola. Finally there is the Recordio, which, like some earlier, turn-of-the-century phonographs, could record as well as reproduce sound.

The exhibit is brought to life by sound reproductions of early recordings that these types of devices played. Other exhibit features are early photos of Edison.

There is no additional charge for the exhibit beyond the regular Village admission.

Putting on a happy face

Mike Gouin, former Wayne Memorial and Eastern Michigan University baseball star, has plenty to smile about these days. Gouin is hitting at a .645 clip for Detroit Caesar's in the inaugural American Professional Slo-Pitch Softball League. After 20 games, he trails only two other teammates in the batting standings, Ford (.734) and Mitchell (.688). Caesar's is dominating the Midwest Division title chase as it has compiled an 18-2 won-lost record, the best record posted thus far by any team in any of the three divisions.

The Sports Meridian

Special softball game

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

They're going to play a couple of softball games Saturday night which are extraordinary ones.

Especially for nine-month-old Tony T. Taube who knows nothing about softball or why the four teams will take to the field at Westland's Jaycees Park.

You see, young Taube is fighting a do-or-die battle for his life and for awhile there doctors didn't give him a chance.

For most of us, breathing comes naturally, but for the rare few it doesn't, doctors say. And, unfortunately, for Tony he falls into the latter category.

When young Taube goes to sleep, he stops breathing — his diaphragm just stops functioning, so his lungs don't inhale or exhale. Doctors call that rare disease, "sleep apnea."

Because doctors today have the device to save those inflicted by the disease — Tony is still alive. They implanted a pacemaker device on both sides of the infant's abdomen which is designed to trigger normal breathing by stimulating the diaphragm to work normally.

"Of course all of the medical help has cost the Taubes — Peggy and Anthony — a bundle," said George Gillies, president of the Westland Athletic Officials Association. "The two games will help raise some money to defray some of the costs for medical expenses."

The tab to keep the infant Taube alive has soared over $100,000.

Among those who will be at Saturday night's games to help raise money are Westland Mayor Tom Taylor; Dick Vitale, the University of Detroit head cage coach who was recently named the university's athletic director; Ted Lindsay, the Detroit Red Wings' newly-appointed general manager.

The Dearborn Fire Department will be represented at the games by six clowns, and Mike Ricey will be on hand to do a play-by-play.

The doubleheader will feature Studio Lounge's women's softball team, the defending Westland champs, and Ann Arbor, the reigning American Softball Association champs.

The first game is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Then, at 8:30 p.m., Westland Sports Shop, winners of eight straight, will take on WXYZ's Blue Machine, a team made up of employees from the Southfield radio station.

"We're not charging any admission," Gillies said, "but we will be passing canisters through the stands for donations from the fans."

Gillies, and his wife, Pat, along with Livonia residents Bill and Nina Christy; Hugh and Geri Gill of Westland, Ed McCahill, The Rev. John O'Callahan of St. Richard Church and many others have been instrumental getting the fund drive off the ground.

Thanks to this group canisters have been popping up in local businesses and restaurants throughout Western Wayne County area. The service clubs along with the Lions, Moose, veteran groups and churches have also dug into their coffers and have helped raise nearly $3,400.

Gillies said that patrons of the Golden Coin Lounge Restaurant have been extremely generous. One canister in the lounge yielded $750 in donations.

"No one will ever convince me that people don't come to the aid of people," Gillies added. Here's just one example of people helping someone who definitely needs help."

Legion leader is upset victim

Title race is scrambled by Keim

Last place teams aren't supposed to go around knocking off title contenders.

But Earl Keim of Dearborn pulled the upset of the American Legion baseball season last week as it handed Garden City its second loss of the campaign, 10-2.

That loss scattered the title race and gave Wayne a shot at the top of the standings.

Garden City, laden with local talent, had lost only one game previously and carried a 7-2 record into this week's action. It was Keim's second win.

"We were playing well all along and apparently were due to have a letdown," said Ken Stack, Garden City baseball manager. "It's unfortunate we had to let it happen against Keim."

Tom Poole, former former Garden City West star, suffered his first loss of the campaign. He was relieved in the fifth inning after giving up seven hits seven runs, three of those earned.

Six errors led to the leagueleader's demise. They collected nine hits.

Garden City got on the scoreboard in the first inning when Tim Brady led off with a bunt single, then Doug McGill flew out, but John Saborin doubled to center field. Brady, however, was erased trying to score.

Jim Canfield then laced a run-scoring single to right.

Garden City made it 2-0 in the second when Mike Paz led off with a single and Bob Zielinski got aboard on a fielder's choice, sacrificed and Brady singled home Paz.

Keim exploded for five runs in the second, more than enough to stop Garden City's speedy title express.

Garden City edged Wyandotte 3-2 for its seventh victory earlier in the week. Winning pitcher Bill Robb fanned nine, walked five in tossing an eight-hitter.

Homers by Tim Brady and Jerry Hool sandwiched between Doug McGill's long fly ball gave Garden City two runs in the first inning.

Garden City put what proved to be the winning run on the board in the second inning as Dave Priebe led off with a single, moved to third on Brady's single and scored on McGill's up the middle base hit.

Wyandotte came back with single runs in the fourth and fifth innings respectively and threatened in the seventh but Robb held them off.

Hoenes, Stack to coach All-Stars

Resting atop of the 16th District Legion Baseball League, Wayne Post 111 will break for the annual Legion All-Star Game this week.

The game will be played 8 p.m., Saturday at Wyandotte Memorial Field.

The 16th District will be divided into two divisions and the All-Stars from each division will play against one another. In bygone years the game pitted the Detroit Legion All-Stars against the best of the 16th District.

Norm Hoenes, whose team is the frontrunner in the 16th, will coach the Red Division All-Stars, while Ken Stack, whose Garden City contingent was in the lead most of the year, will handle the Red Division.

The Red Division will have four players from the Wayne Post wearing uniforms. They include Joe Emery, Wayne's ace pitcher, Jim Irwin, who is the team's leading batter, Rob Taraskavage (catcher) and infielder Craig Walker.

Ouch!

Watching helplessly as a Garden City baserunner slides safely into second is Wayne Post 111 player Jim Harrison. However, it was Wayne that stunned Garden City 2-1 last Friday to take over sole possession of first place in the 16th District American Legion Baseball League. Wayne is garnering a 10-2 record as compared to Garden City's 7-3 mark.

Extra Point draws 1st blood in duel with Wayne's J & D

Extra Point Bar drew first blood in its duel against J & D Auto Parts.

Held scoreless for three innings, Extra Point came-from-behind to edge J & D, 10-9 and took over sole possession of first place in Wayne's Class A Women's Softball League.

J & D appeared well on the way to victory after building up leads of 3-0 and 7-0, but Extra Point rallied for four runs in the fourth, added three more in the fifth and scored three decisive runs in the sixth.

Losing pitcher Sarah Kohain gave up nine hits to the winners, two each to Terri Richardson and Debbie Reid and run-scoring singles to Sue Richardson and Lori Bleyhart.

J & D got 12 hits off of winning pitcher Cheryl Madean who had her problems with Sharon McMasters, McMasters blasted a homer, singled and drove in three runs. Cheryl Solstice chipped in three singles while Lou Hoefft accounted for a triple and a couple of singles.

Earlier in the week, Extra Point crushed Ameteas 28-5 as three Extra Point batters — Patti Brown, Vicki Pier and Debbie Reid each smacked three hits. Miss Reid also accounted for five RBIs.

Richardson and Reid got the only homers of the game, both were two-run blasts off of losing pitcher Joan Toon.

Miss Toon paced Ameteas' attack with three hits and teammate Denise Holsgrave laced two singles.

Madean tossed an eight-hitter in chalking up the victory. Though Mac Tools made it look close for two innings, they also proved to be no match for the league leaders who surged to an eight run first inning then pulled away 18-6. The losers scored six times in the second.

Extra Point Bar went on to win 20-12 as Madean got the job done on a seven-hitter. Elaine Blackwell, Jackie Steinhauer and Sue Hale each had two Mac Tools' hits and Patty Thornsberry accounted for the other.

Becky Brown, Debbie Reid and Larie Bleyset each had run-scoring singles for the winners.

J & D Auto tuned up for its showdown with Extra Point with a rare 19-0 shutout over the Local Merchants who were held to two hits — one each by Terri Reighard and Sherry Paul — by Mary Porter.

J & D unleashed a 19-hit attack on loser Kathy Carter who gave up a two-run homer to Andrey Gasdorf and two hits each to Sue Johnson, Sharon McMasters and Kathy Hayes.

Miss Porter at one point retired 13 straight batters.

Pat Bledsoe's 11-hit pitching performance and her bat lifted Turner's Service to a 10-5 victory over Jake's Lounge, in other Class A action.

Miss Bledsoe clubbed three singles and drove home three runs. Teammates Ruth Winfrell, Carol Luyak and Kim Little chipped in with two hits apiece.

Becky Proudlock led Jake's hitting attack with three hits and Cindy Komeous and Pat Fitzgerald each checked in with two singles.

Janet Hargrove was charged with the loss as she tossed a 11-hitter.

The Local Merchants tallied eight times in the fourth inning but didn't get the tying run in its 14-13 loss to Amantea's. The game was called after the fourth because of time limitations.

The losers scored their 12 runs on two hits — one each by Joy Reighard and Sherry Squillets. Losing pitcher Kathy Carter served

Entries must be in before July 20 for Fellows Creek meet

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

If you're thinking about entering the 1977 City Championship Golf Tournament, don't wait.

The deadline to get your registration fee and blank into The Associated Newspapers' offices is July 20.

"I know from past experience that we will not have any difficulty filling the field," said Bill Hawley, tournament director. "As in the past the golf course can accommodate only 125 players, so we have to set a deadline."

The 21st annual tournament will be staged the weekend of July 23-24 at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton Township. The tournament is open to residents of Wayne, Westland, Canton, Inkster and Garden City.

The golfers will be competing for separate city championships simultaneously and the top five golfers from each of the cities will represent their respective cities at the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association's state tournament which will be held in September in Grand Rapids.

Though any golfer who lives or works for a tax-paying or tax-supported institution in any of the five competing cities is eligible to play in the city tournament, only bona fide residents can represent a city on teams in the state meet.

Competitors will play 18-holes on Saturday, then return Sunday for the final 18-holes. Trophies will be presented to the first, second and third finishers of each flight and there will be a trophy for the low scorer (medalist) for the entire field.

In case of a tie for any of the trophy berths, the competitors will play a "sudden death" playoff.

To enter, please fill out the entry blank accompanying this story and mail it, along with your $15.50 entry fee, to Tom Mooradian, Sports Editor, Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Michigan 48184.

Also, please make checks payable to TOM MOORADIAN.

In the past junior golfers (18 years and under) have competed in this tournament. They are eligible to compete on the local level; however, MHSAA and MPRA rules prohibit them from taking part in the state tournament.

'A big one'

Johnny's Shell edges Studio Lounge

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Two arch-rivals, Johnny's Shell and Studio Lounge clashed last week in the Westland Women's Softball League and when the dust cleared, Johnny's had a big 7-6 victory.

That triumph stretched Johnny's winning streak to eight games and left it in sole possession of first place, while Studio saw its eight-game win streak dissipate and was forced out of first and now occupies second with an 8-1 mark.

Johnny's got to losing pitcher Sharon Terflinger for two runs in the first inning, however, Studio took the lead 3-2 in the top of the second. Johnny's came right back and tied the game at 3-all before the two teams exchanged one run in the third inning.

Studio appeared to have found its poise as it rattled winning pitcher Marie Fletcher for a run in the fifth, but Johnny's refused to quite and rallied for what proved to be the winning runs in the sixth, scoring three times.

Miss Fletcher had her problems with Maureen McIntosh who laced three singles, scored three times and batted in two runs. Teammate Sharon Winkler picked up two hits and an RBI.

Both Barb Enoch and Gloria Grannett accounted for two RBI's against Terflinger who gave up only eight hits as compared to 14 supplied by Fletcher.

Studio bounced back and buried fifth place Westway Trucking 23-3 in their next outing. Exploding for 16 runs in the third, there was little doubt of the outcome of the game after that frame.

Karen McElyea supplied the winners with five RBI's thanks to four singles while McIntosh and Heather Domke each had three hits and both connected for home runs.

Miss Terflinger scattered 10 Westway hits, two of those were singles by Liz Hogle. Laura LaCroix was the loser, the victim of a 21-hit Studio Lounge.

Johnny's also didn't have to sweat in its second outing of the week as it humbled third place VFW Bova 16-2 thanks to a 28-hit attack on losing pitcher Sheryl Chounick.

Miss Chounick gave up five RBI's to Marie Fletcher who put together two singles, a double and triple. Karen Austin and Debbie Junk split six hits and six RBI's between them.

Fletcher, the winning pitcher, was tagged for two hits each by Marilyn Valvet and Kren Lowrey.

Lynn's Country Bar won its third in eight starts at the expense of Bova's 17-8. Striking early, Lynn's amassed a 16-0 lead after three innings before VFW scored five times in the fourth.

Jan Anzalone was the winning pitcher as she tossed an 11-hitter. Vicki Pier accounted for two singles and two runs batted in and teammate Karen Lowrey got two hits for the losers.

Dawn Lalonde swatted a homer and two singles off of losing pitcher Bev Pallister who also served up a triple and a pair of singles to Judy Fidh and three hits to Trudy Daberico who counted three RBI's.

Lynn's, however, found itself on the short end of a 16-10 count with the Power Packs who tilted the scoreboard for eight runs in the third inning to erase a 6-2 deficit.

Though Lynn's came back and tied it up at 10-all in the top of the fourth, the Power Packs broke the deadlock with two runs in the bottom

Former All-Area griddler Randy Epley (at left) of Westland and Livonia Franklin will share the duties of co-captain with Pat Carmody of Utica Eisenhower for Wayne State University's football team this season. Epley is a three-year linebacker starter and succeeds graduated Keith Anleitner, also an All-Area alumni from Garden City East High School. The Tartars will open a gruelling 11-game schedule with home dates Sept. 3 against 1976 NCAA-II finalist Akron.

4 Class E teams wage war for 1st in Wayne league

Is there a more balanced baseball league in the area than Wayne Class E's league?

One would be hard-pressed to locate one that has four teams tied for first place and a fifth that is only one game behind the pacesetters.

With each of the six teams having played five games, four teams — the Bears, Beavers, Rams and Wolverines are tied for first with 3-2 records. One notch down are the Lions (2-3), while in the cellar are the Colts (1-4).

Jeff Lambert pitched a five-hitter and also squeezed home the winning run as the Wolverines edged the Beavers 3-2. Lambert went the distance, fanned 13 and walked five in chalking up the victory.

Bob Novack drilled a homer for the winners, one of two hits off of losing pitcher Tom Thompson who notched 11 whiffs and walked four.

The Beavers averted the shutout in the sixth inning when singles by Joe May, Lonnie Reid, Mel Rumble and Mike Stevens led to their two runs.

Reliever Barry Conyer scattered two hits as the Bears handed the Wolverines their first setback of the campaign 5-4. Conyer stepped in for Joe Glass who gave up four runs in the first inning.

The Bears collected one run in the second, then tied it up at four-all in the sixth to force the issue into extra innings. In the eighth, Jeff James laced a single with two away, scoring Al Bruchnak from second with the winning run.

Conyer worked six innings, gave up two hits, struck out 12 and walked eight.

Lambert started for the losers and also lasted two innings before Novack took over. He was relieved in the eighth by Joe Jones.

Jones and Lambert accounted for two of the losers' hits, while Eugene Piestrak drove in three Bears' runs on a triple and single. Conyer had a double and mates James and Paul Cerial each had run-scoring singles.

Bob Kost and Chuck Erickson teamed up to hand the Wolverines their second loss of the year as the Rams routed the previously undefeated Wolverines 7-3. A bases-loaded walk to Rich Peters followed up by a bases-clearing double by Bob Nutt gave the Rams five runs in the third inning after the Wolverines got on the board for three runs in the first inning.

Jones, who worked the first 3 and one-third innings, served up four hits and was charged with all seven runs, was the loser. He was relieved by Lambert who proceeded to pitch one-hit ball the rest of the way.

Jones connected for a two-run homer, while Russ Coleman doubled and Bob Black and Mike Fontaine split singles between them.

The Lions wasted a homer and double by Tracy Conyer in their narrow 4-3 loss to the Beavers last week. The Beavers parlayed aggressive base-running and key doubles by Tom Thompson and Larry Reid to take a 3-0 lead in the top of the second, but the Lions fought back and put runs on the board in the second, third and tied it at 3-all after five innings.

The Beavers got the clincher in the sixth.

Though Crestwood Dodge remains close on its heels, P.J.'s Lounge definitely is the team to beat in Westland Men's Minor Red Division Softball League.

P.J.'s breezed to its sixth consecutive victory as it destroyed Crown Furniture 25-6.

Scoring 10 times in the first inning, the winners built up a 17-2 lead before they eased up on the throttle. Winning pitcher Bob Fullerton gave up 13 hits, three of those to Pete Petrie who batted in two runs and scored three times.

P.J.'s was rough on Petrie who was tagged for the loss. He was touched for 31 hits, five of those by Larry Michalic who had a pair of singles, two doubles, a triple and seven RBI's. Michalic also scored five times. Teammate Mike O'Brian collected four hits and counted three RBI's while Don Thomas chased home four runs thanks to a homer, double and two singles.

Crestwood Dodge made it five out of six at the expense of Tasty Tray who trailed 29-0 after four innings in the 29-3 game.

John Ray was the only bright spot for the loser as he swatted two singles to drive in one run and scored two times himself.

However, losing pitcher Tom Fischer just couldn't stop Crestwood who amassed a 30-hit attack against Fischer. Larry Mulroy belted five hits, including a triple and accounted for nine runs batted in. Ron Miller and a pair of singles and doubles for four RBI's and Paul Campbell contributed five hits, two of those doubles which chased home six runs.

Mulroy was also the winning pitcher. The much-improved Over-the-Hill Gang chalked up its fifth victory in seven outings as they won a slugfest from the Pedagogues 23-16.

Losing pitcher Pat Nally, who collected a couple of singles and tripled to account for three RBI's, served up 26 hits to his ravals.

Three of those hits were homers by Dave Mills who also singled. Tom Dietz and Kay Boyagon each laced four hits. One of Dietz' went for the distance.

Dietz was the winning pitcher and he also was touched for four hits and four RBI's by Al Peitzemier.

In the only other game, Westland Florist held off Yardarm Bar 10-8 for its fifth win in seven starts. Yardarm rallied for three runs in the seventh but fell short.

Chuck Heddle collected four of 14 hits off of winning pitcher Tony Kierschke. Jerry Mijar piled up four RBI's thanks to a pair of singles and a double while Terry rown chipped in with a triple, two singles and a couple of RBI's for the winners.

Champion 'screws up' Marauders' title plan

Champion Screw apparently has its own design for the Westland Minor League Blue Division softball title.

And it doesn't include B-B Marauders. Exploding for five runs in the last of the seventh, Champion put the screws on B-B's and edged the previously undefeated league-leader 12-11 to scramble the title race.

Though the Marauders have a 6-1 record and are atop of the league, their 6-1 record is only a half-game better than Fairland and Extra Point Bar which are knotted for second place with 5-1 marks. Meanwhile, Champion Screw boosted its title stock thanks to its fifth win in seven starts.

Champion had to come from behind after leading 4-0 after two innings. The Marauders tallied five times in the third then added three more runs in the fifth to go ahead 8-4. They increased that margin by three, making it 11-4 after six innings.

But Champion Screw refused to quit and retaliated with three runs in their sixth and put what proved to be the decisive runs on the board in the last inning.

Winning pitcher Tim Suida scored three times and also received excellent hitting support from Don Wakefield who belted a pair of singles and a triple, driving in three runs. Teammates Tom Burk and Randy Bearden each had two hits.

Chuck Ruthig led the Marauders' assault as he swatted three hits and counted three RBI's. John Hughes singled and doubled in two runs for the losers.

Fairlane stayed in the title chase thanks to a 10-4 victory over Odyssey Lounge whose pitcher, Phil Martinez, delivered 17 hits. Three of those went to Paul Marandi who connected for a pair of single and a double, chasing home three runs.

Dennis Fisher belted a single and double and had two RBI's for the winners.

Winning pitcher Don Yaniek had his troubles with Terry Johnson who sliced a triple and single for two runs batted in. Mike Schaffer chipped in two singles and two RBI's.

Meanwhile, Jamie's edged Jake's Lounge 8-6 to record its second win in seven starts. Jake's slipped to 1-5 on the season.

Getting the job done against his former teammates is Joe Emery, who twirled a five-hitter Friday to lift Wayne Post 111 to a 2-1 victory over then first place team, Garden City. Emery hails from Garden City East High. He fanned five and walked none to help Wayne post its 10th victory in 12 outings.

up eight hits, three going to Rosie Franz while Louise Beaura swatted two wingles and Marla Miller connected for a two-run single.

Miss Franz was the winning pitcher.

Amantea's scored five times in the first inning and that's about all they needed in dubbing Turner's Service 8-3 in their meeting last week.

Miss Franz managed to scatter five Turner hits, giving up a double to Bonnie Gross and singles to Gerri Starr, Pat Bledsoe, Virginia Sexton and Ganoy Ramon.

Denise Holsgrove and Joan Tool

each had two hits while teammates Darlene Wendel, Pat Brock and Cindy Cavers collected one each off of losing pitcher Carol Suyak.

The Merchants also were awarded a victory by forfeit over Jake's Lounge which failed to field the necessary players at game time.

The University of Detroit basketball Titans won the 2nd Quadrangular International Basketball Tournament in the Dominican Republic by downing Naco, San Carlos and San Lazaro, the three top-ranked club teams in that country.

Wayne Ford survives scare

League-leading Wayne Ford Civic held off an upset-minded Chamber of Commerce softball team 19-17 to remain undefeated in Westland's Community Organization League.

Two six-run spurts by Wayne Ford enabled Tom Tutton to pick up the victory. However, Tutton gave up 26 hits, two more than his rival, Lou Klein.

Charley Nielson had five hits, including a homer and drove in seven runs for the winners while Carl Kuban stroked five hits and had six RBI's for the winners. Wayne Ford received a pair of circuit clouts and a single from Jim Tromeur.

Dean Gherardini was the Chamber's big gun as he drilled four singles and connected for a double in driving in seven of his team's 17 runs. Teammate Larry Reed sandwiched a couple of doubles between a single and triple while Pete Gherardini carded three hits for the evening.

Behind Bob Ferrari's hitting and pitching, Wayne Ford also humbled Westland J.C.'s Blue Chip's battery. Ferrari tossed an eight-hitter and chipped in a homer, double and single at the plate.

Harry Smith and Jim Ciceri turned in with three hits each for the winners.

Dolphins to open summer swim season at Crestwood

By GEORGE WHITEHEAD
Special Correspondent

Sporting T-shirts with the inscription "League Champs" in flowing blue script lettering, members of the Wayne Dolphin Swim Club will travel to Crestwood High Saturday (July 9), for the first of five meets.

Dolphin rooters hope this is the beginning of another championship in the young Winter-Summer Swim Conference.

The Dolphins, who sported a perfect 8-0 mark in dual meets and then outscored four other teams in league-meet competition to win the winter version championship, are pointing toward a sweep in this first year of the conference's existence.

In Saturday's encounter at Crestwood High School, Beech Daly between Cherry Hill and Ford roads, Wayne will face four other teams in a backstroke relay meet.

Competition begins at 11 a.m. and is open to the public.

One difference between the winter and summer seasons is the meet format.

Over the winter season, each team has a dual-meet home-away series against the other four teams, culminated by a league meet in which all five clubs participate.

The summer season (which is considerably shorter) consists of all five clubs in four relay meets — each based on one of the four competitive strokes — climaxed by an individual league championship meet.

Crestwood will host the backstroke meet, which means that a majority of the relay races in each age category will include the backstroke as its basic stroke.

Other meets this summer include a freestyle event July 16 at Wayne's Attwood Pool, a breaststroke test hosted by Cherry Hill on July 21, a butterfly struggle at Allen Park's Colony Club on July 29, followed by the individual meet August 6 at Lincoln Park's Community Center pool.

Coach Jim McPartlin and assistant coaches Jim Lawrence, Dave Santure and Dick Fisch are busily readying their charges for the season.

Feister rocks Westland Sports

Studio Lounge moves up and forward in Major's

Getting some unexpected but welcomed help from Feister Oil, Studio Lounge finds itself all alone atop of the Westland Major League Softball standings this week.

Feister jarred previously undefeated Westland Sports 7-6 as the winners scored three big runs in the top of the seventh to cut the westlanders' win streak at eight.

Studio Lounge has an 8-0 record and is the only unbeaten team in the 14-team league.

Jim Taylor proved to be the thorn in Westland Sports' side as he connected for three hits, a pair of doubles and a triple and drove in three runs. Teammates Rob Carr and Jim May chipped in four singles between them.

Winning pitcher Rocky Feister gave up 12 hits, three to Chris Murfey who missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to get a triple. Murfey accounted for four RBI's while mate Phil Raney drilled a homer and single for two runs batted in.

Tony Pilarski was the losing pitcher.

Westland Sports earlier in the week chalked up its eighth win at the expense of Shoppe Around 15-9. Pilarski got the win, twirling a 14-hitter while Charley Taylor was charged with the loss.

Vern Westerlund supplied the winners with seven RBI's as he laced a double and three singles. Teammates Dave Wyrabkiewicz and Dick Saylor each had three hits as did Perry Pappas who blasted two homers and a double. Pappas also chipped in four runs batted in.

Dennis Reitz' "cycle" was wasted by Shoppe Around. Reitz is the first to record a homer, triple, double and single in one game in the Major Division this season.

Joe Walker picked up a single and double while Bob Goodlow drilled two roundtrippers for the losers. Those were solo blasts.

Studio Lounge managed to keep its record untarnished with three victories last week. However, the unbeaten league pacesetters needed a last of the seventh three run rally to escape from Pete & Johnnies' mitts.

Trailing 10-8 going into the seventh, Studio put the all-important runs on the board to win 11-10.

Tom Davidson survived upset-minded Pete & Johnnies who stroked 17-hits including two homers and a couple of singles by John Irwin. Jim Hawkins had three hits and two RBI's for the losers.

Mike Kosytich, Dennis Jamis and Mike Burton led Studio's onslaught as each turned in with three hits. Jamis and Burton hammered homers off of loser Tom LaFortune.

Studio earlier had to hdd off the Buzz Troop which rallied in the seventh for three runs but fell short 7-5. Jones was touched for 16 hits, three by Bob Fields and two by Tim

2 White Division teams undefeated

The Westland Men's White Division boasts two undefeated teams.

But league-leader Joe Thomas, which has won seven straight, knows that there is a showdown in the nearest future with Wayne Motor Supply, winner of six consecutive games.

Until then, thanks to playing one more game than Wayne Motor's, Joe Thomas has the top of the standings to itself. They are there because of a comfortable 14-4 triumph over Mr. Steak's.

With Joe Cooley tossing an 11-hitter, Thomas's emerged with nine runs in the second inning then went on to the easy win.

Cooley, who helped his cause with three hits, one a three-bagger, and four runs batted in, gave up two hits each to Jeff Culiutte and Kyle Filgeraid.

2. In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our beloved son and brother William (Billy) Willes who left us suddenly 3 years ago June 30, 1974. He had a nature you could not help loving, and heart that was pure gold. And to those who knew him and loved him his memory will never grow old.
Missed by mom, brother Dill, relatives and friends.

OUR SON JERRY is missed, awfully bad by us and all his friends. Howard Watkins Family. 3496 Richard St. Wayne.
